Henninger To Serve His Community

BY LISA RISSER

BERRYSBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Lynn Henninger is a man who believes in giving back to society some of what it has given to him. When the opportunity came to help the Pennsylvania animal industry, Henninger took it.

The Pennsylvania Senate unanimously confirmed Henninger as a member of the state's newly created Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission. A former president of the Pennsylvania Turkey Council and director of the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, Henninger was nominated by the poultry organization.

"I care very much, not just for poultry, but all agriculture including hogs and cattle," stressed Henninger, who operates poultry, hog, and beef farms.

"The commission's purpose is

Forage/Livestock Day Planned For Hershey

HERSHEY (Dauphin) — Farmers with beef and dairy cattle, sheep, and horses are invited to attend the Pennsylvania Forage-Livestock Day on Wednesday, July 19, at the Milton Hershey School Farms here.

The event is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Sheep & Wool Growers Association, Penn State College of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service, and Ag Industry. It is hosted by the Milton Hershey Schools Farm.

The day will begin at 9:00 a.m. and include a walking tour that attendees take on their own. Tour highlights include the latest in forage-management techniques,

When it comes to agricultural interests, the whole Sonnen family gets involved. Becky, the new state FFA president, is shown with her parents, Paul and Marilyn Sonnen, and Cricket, the new born calf is the granddaughter of Super, the cow responsible for launching Becky's dairy success.

State FFA Team Believes Together Everyone Achieves More

BY LOU ANN GOOD

SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.) — Now that the officers for the state FFA have been chosen, it's evident that the top three officers have much in common.

All three have served as dairy princesses.

Rebecca Sonnen, Richland, picked up the FFA president's gavel on July 10. Becky is best known as the 1988 state dairy princess. Tammy Sue Balthaser, current state dairy princess alternate, is now the state FFA vice president and Christine Davidson, former Cumberland County dairy princess, will handle the secretarial duties for the state organization.

Achieving the top FFA positions required grueling interviews and a comprehensive resume of FFA achievements. Although dairy princess titles are not mentioned, all three attest that their reign definitely helped by grooming their public relations skills.

Not only do they share a similar background, but they also share similar goals.

Becky said, "I have a great team. We got to be really close during the nomination time. Together we can achieve our goal to build FFA membership."

Vice president Tammy agreed. She said, "We aren't competing. A motto that I heard several years ago always stuck with me. It translate the word "TEAM" into meaning "Together Everyone Achieves More."

With that in mind, the FFA leadership team has drawn up a plan to enable the slate of 11 officers to talk with every FFA chapter and school administration in the state during the next year.

The three college students are readjusting their schedules to make room for their new assignments. Becky, a college sophomore, plans to take a year off from Penn State. "Ever since I was a high school freshman, I wanted to be a state FFA officer," she explained. "Now that I am president I want to do the best job I can."

Tammy, who completed her freshman year at Penn State Berks Campus, will limit her college activities to one class.

Twenty-six contestants competed for state office in June at the FFA activities week held at State College.

Christine said, "Applicants can't run for a particular office such as president or chaplain. Instead the judging committee chooses the position for which

Windswept Farms Sweeps Keystone Sale

BY MARIANNE WALKER
Centre Co. Correspondent

UNIVERSITY PARK (Center Co.) — Pennsylvania's purebred sheep breeders must be smiling just a little more broadly this July. The Pennsylvania Sheep and Wool Growers 41st Annual Keystone Stud Ram and Ewe Sale, held Saturday, July 8, was a success both in the number of animals sold and the prices the sheep brought. Preceded on the 7th by an all-breed show, the sale averaged $260.27 per head, with a record 426 animals being auctioned.

The overall average was up from last year's $183 and $218 in 1987, according to the sale's manager, Bob Calvert. The National Horned Dorset Show and Sale, the National Polled Dorset Show and Sale, and the National Finnsheep Sale also were held in conjunction with the Keystone.

Polled Dorsets dominated the show and sale, with 129 head averaging $383, and Windswept Farm's yearling ewe earning Supreme Champion Ewe honors. The ewe, of Cyclone breeding, sold for $2,800, while another Windswept consignment, captured the Polled Dorset Champion Ram title and sold for $2,300. A third Windswept consignment won the Early Fall Ram Lamb class and brought $2,200.

Windswept Farm is owned by George and Margaret Downsborough of State College.

Dairy Of Distinction Farms Named

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.) — The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program is proud to announce Pennsylvania winners of the 1989 Dairy of Distinction award. Eighty farms in Pennsylvania have been selected as new recipients of this honored award.

The Dairy of Distinction program has been operating in Pennsylvania for three years. Including this year's winners, a total of 274 Pennsylvania dairy farms have been recognized through this program.

The program was established in New York State in 1983, and has since spread to Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The program was developed to recognize farms that maintain a high-quality farm appearance.

Farms that apply are judged on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds and surroundings. The winning farms receive attractive 18x24-inch signs that are placed on the roadside. Winning entries are judged annually to insure that they continue to meet the standards of excellence set by the program.

ACRES CORN UPDATE: Corn futures prices ended today's session mixed with July and August 3-1/4 and 1-1/4 cents lower while the December through July '90 options gained from 3/4 to 2-3/4 cents. Back month gains were linked to late short covering in advance of this afternoon's planted acreage report.

A slack near term export outlook pressured the front months in addition to long liquidation in advance of last trading day on July 20th. July closed today at $2.55-3/4, after trading in a range from $2.53-3/4 to $2.58-1/2. Bids for generic certificates were steady.

ACRES SOYBEAN UPDATE: Soybean futures prices continued their descent today with old crop months closing lower from 26 to 39-1/2 cents while the new crop months dropped from 9-1/2 to 18 cents. Front months pressure was tied to bull spread liquidation after a CBT Board of directors ruling that large positions would have to be liquidated in an orderly fashion and by at least 20% per trading day on those positions exceeding, 3.0 million bushels. New crop found limited support from the latest weather forecasts projecting a drier outlook next week. Today's USDA planted acreage came in at 61.325 million acres which was slightly below pre-estimates and should be bullish for tomorrow's

The market tone was barely steady to weak. Trading activity was spotty as most buyers continued to work on a hand to mouth basis. Offerings of raw materials were readily available with breakers more selective in their purchases. Floor stocks were usually adequate for current requirements.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

JULY 17-23, 1989

Full Buck Moon.

July 17, 1955, Arco, Idaho is the first town in the world to receive all its light and power from atomic energy, in one-hour experiment . July 19, 1848, women's bloomers introduced to the delegates of the First Women's Rights Convention in Seneca Falls, N Y Average length of days for the week 14 hours 51 minutes . July 23, 1904, the ice cream cone is born! . The sunrise never failed us yet. — Celia Thaxter.

Ask the Old Farmer: Why the expression, "Why doesn't your mother keep pigs in the parlor?"
It's used when people get tired of, "Why this or why that?"

Home Hints: For larger pumpkins, remove all but two from each vine

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Showers, then clearing; cool, more scattered showers; clearing and finally hot. Why on earth not? A wettish week, it seems.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Sunny and warm, then sprinkles; clear and hot. Brief hot spells predicted for late July; maybe this is one of 'em!

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Seasonable, scattered showers; then rain in the west; the week ends with clearing and hot weather to dry the beginning wetness.

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Seasonable with a few showers to start the week; rain in the south, scattered in the north; cooler; then clear and hot.

WITHDRAW 5 DAYS BEFORE SLAUGHTER

Producers of animal-derived foods have adopted tough, self-policing positions. For example, the Beef Safety Assurance Program promoted by the National Cattlemen's Assn., asks each participating cattle feeder to sign a beef safety assurance agreement that verifies that all cattle shipped from the producer-member are healthy and wholesome. This means the cattle meet Food and Drug Adminstration (FDA), U.S. Dept. of Agriculture (USDA), and Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) standards. The agreement for the beef producers includes periodic sampling of carcasses at packing plants.

In addition, the National Pork Producers have a new quality assurance program that will lead to certification of qualifying producers. The National Broiler Council promotes their Good Manufacturing Practice (GMP) procedures.

The American Veal Assn., adapted their Veal Quality Assurance Program at their recent annual meeting in Lancaster. The veal producer guarantees that all calves shipped meet FDA, USDA and EPA specifications.

And the quality incentive programs in the dairy industry have been very successful. These programs take into consideration, not only bacteria and cell counts, but also look for antibiotic violations.

One of the organizations that has helped producer groups to formulate these programs has been the Animal Health Institute in Alexandria, Virginia. The AHI has developed labels that help agricultural food producers to watch for instructions for proper use of medications.

The Eye Clock reminds livestock and poultry producers to take time to observe the label directions. And the Double Arrows highlight the warnings and procedures which must be followed if a producer is to avoid violations for drug residues in his products.

We applaud these self-imposed industry programs and the help AHI gives to the producer groups. Mike Wehler, president-elect of the National Pork Producers Council said it best:"Much as I'd like to avoid another program, I really don't think we have a choice anymore," Wehler said. "We can wait for the government to impose a program...or we can elect to regulate ourselves...self-regulation is a much more attractive option from the point of view of independence for the producer"

To Evaluate The Wheat And Barley Crop

We have a number of concerns with the grain crop coming off this year. Many farmers are reporting lower yields and lower bushel weight from this year's disease infested fields of barley and wheat. Large quantities of spores from a variety of disease organisms are making fields very dusty. Inhaling large quantities of dust and spores can be hazardous to your health. So, we're recommending that you use a toxic dust mask when working in these conditions to help protect your lungs. Our specialists tell us that this poor quality grain should be dried down to 12-13% moisture to help blow out disease organisms and prevent their growth while in storage. And most importantly, do not feed any of this grain until it has been analyzed for nutritional value and for toxins. Let's not take chances with this "below standard" grain.

To Manage Stressed Alfalfa Stands

Many second cutting alfalfa stands lack vigor for a variety of reasons. The presence of cool wet conditions caused black stem to infest some of the first cuttings and leafspots to infest many of the second cuttings. The general lack of sunshine resulted in less photosynthetic activity by the plants. Excess rainfall and water logged soils stressed root systems, and the roots that remained were less able to supply plants' needs, especially as maturity and hot weather increased their water demands. Consequently, stands were yellow, growth was stunted and some plants died out. Then, the more recent arrival of leafhoppers added insult to injury.

The question many farmers are asking is, "How should I manage these stressed stands?" Fields that have been cut more than four weeks ago would probably benefit from being cut again, as soon as possible, regardless of height or stage of maturity. Cutting will accomplish several things: it'll remove diseased and injured top growth, it'll help balance the demands of the plant for water and nutrients with the current ability of its weakened root system, and it'll encourage more rapid regrowth.

Then, pamper the regrowth. Protect it from leafhopper injury if leafhoppers are present, and delay the third cutting until the crop reaches the bloom stage of maturity so it can build up energy reserves in its root system.

To Plan For Fall Seeding

The late summer and fall seeding season is coming rapidly; August seedings of alfalfa should now be in the planning stage. Winter wheat and barley seedings should be planned and orders placed for the right kind of seed. Don't wait until seeding time and then discover the supply is exhausted. Certified seed is highly recommended this year, because of the fungus and mold problems. Don't waste time and money on poor quality seeds; you could be spreading disease and more weeds.

To Take Time To Be Safe

Once every four years the average farm laborer can expect to be injured so severely that medical attention is required. Our safety engineers tell us that agricultural workers are much more susceptible to accidents and injury than industrial workers.

Many pieces of farm machinery need to be repaired and adjusted on the job. Some of this is done while the machinery is operating and on the run. This is dangerous and we urge you to stop the machine and shut it off before any adjustments are made. Just a few seconds of patience could save a life or a vital part of the human body. Keep in mind however, it is not the machinery that is at fault in most cases, but the operator who does not take time to be safe.

SHOW ME A SIGN

July 16, 1989

Background Scripture:
Judges 6
Devotional Reading:
Exodus 3: 1-12

From what I read of Gideon, he is a man after my own heart. Lots of people who have believed they, like Gideon, have received a special mission from God would have been better off—and maybe the world, too—if they had responded as Gideon did; "If now I have found favor with thee, then show me a sign that it is thou who speakest with me" (6:17).

I must confess that the first time I read this story many years ago, I did not respond nearly that favorably to Gideon. In my youthful naivete I was more than a little shocked at his seemingly irreverent response to God's angel—"Pray, sir, if the Lord is with us, why then has all this befallen us? And where are all his wonderful deeds which our fathers recounted to us..." (6:13).

AUDACIOUS GIDEON

Gideon seemed to be on the thin edge between an audacious question and an outright complaint. How could he question "all this" that had plagued the people of Israel. True, they were certainly suffering persecution, but was it not Israel's own fault? Today you and I have the benefit of the hindsight of the writer of Judges: "The people of Israel did what was evil in the sight of the Lord and the Lord gave them into the hand of Midian for seven years" (6:1).

It is interesting to note that, although Judges implies that Gideon is audacious for his response to God's angel, nowhere in the whole story is there any sense of negative reaction by the Lord. Nothing he says to Gideon, either directly or through his angel, indicates the slightest impatience with Gideon's cautious and questioning manner.

When we carefully examine Gideon's encounter with the angel, I think it is evident that Gideon's response was a reasonable and sincere one—throughout the Bible God seems to have a predilection for people who speak out plainly and boldly when doubtful. For one thing, Gideon was perfectly reasonable in being suspicious of the angel who began the encounter with an equally audacious statement: "The Lord is with you, you mighty man of valor" (6:12b). To call him "a mighty man of valor" must have seemed a cruel mockery. Up until this time Gideon was not recorded as having been either "mighty" nor a "man of valor."

CAUTIOUS GIDEON

I once regarded Gideon's response as an evasion of responsibility. But today I realize that Gideon was being perfectly open and honest: "Behold, my clan is the weakest in Manasseh, and I am the least in my family." This is not an evasion nor easy way out, but an honest doubt that he was equal to this task. Haven't you and I had pretty much the same reaction at times when God has called us. "Who, me? Surely you must have the wrong number!"

It seems that the angel of the Lord addr es Gideon in terms of what he could be, rather than in terms of what he was at that moment. He is challenging Gideon to become the man that God created him to be. And to reassure Gideon, God, through the angel, tells Gideon not to worry about his personal adequacy—"But I will be with you." (6:16).

Earnestly desiring not to be deceived and misled, Gideon asks for a "sign" that this is really God speaking to him and even after that he asks the Lord to give him two more signs. He wanted to be sure he was working with God alone. When God calls us to a new task in our lives, there is nothing wrong with asking him to show us a sign.

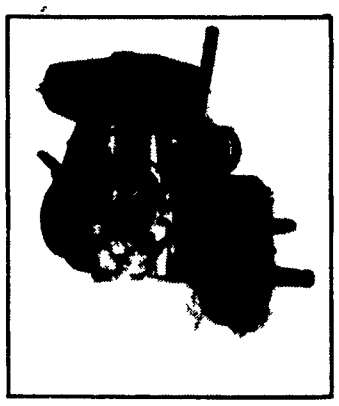
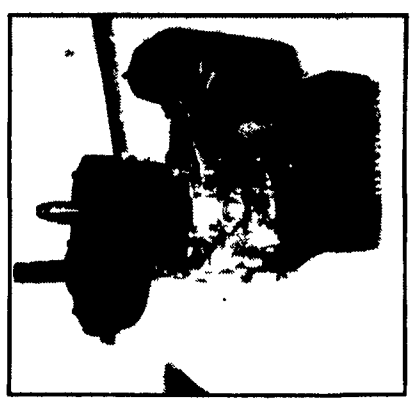
8½ HP Kawasaki Gasoline Engine With Clutch & 6 to 1 Reduction





Specially designed shaft to power hydraulic pumps, etc.

This unit is basically designed to transmit power from engine to power take off shaft equipment The reason for this design, an extra shaft is built into this unit so power can be transmitted to the hydraulic system by using belts and pulleys. This shaft is placed above the splined shaft, and runs hydraulic pump with or without power take off shaft in gear No need to take the rope rewind starter off to mount pulley on front of the engine This simple design eliminates special machined pulley adaptors. Reduction housing and cover is a rugged cast iron construction All shafts are of special selected steels and are heat treated and hardened at wear points All ball and needle bearing construction for long life A heavy-duty ball-loc type clutch is used This unit has few moving parts, thus it should give many years of service Clutch adjustments are made from the outside, (very simple)

A specially selected engine, the Kawasaki KF-82 8½ HP, is used for your convenience The engine is also made with rugged construction, and has smooth operation This engine has high torque at low RPMs, thus is well adapted to the clutch and reduction unit

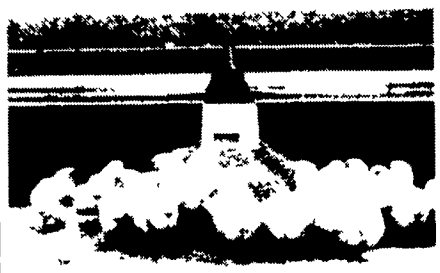
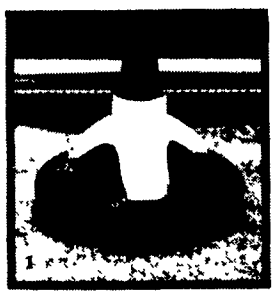
INTRODUCING CHORE-TIME®'s NEW H2 FEEDER

A New Way To Feed Broilers And Turkey Poults



H2 Broiler Feeder With Flood Gates Open, Fills Pan With Overflow Onto The Paper For Quick Starts With Minimum Waste.



H2 Turkey Poult Feeder Has Feed Chutes To Fill Pan Without Any Spillage Onto Shavings.

Pan Hangs On Cone For Easy Cleaning.

- OUR 10-YEAR WARRANTY on the auger and 5-year warranty on the pan says it all - WE STAND BEHIND IT!
- ALL-PLASTIC FEEDER consists of 3 simple, rugged polypropylene parts for permanent corrosion-proofing. Pan easily removes for clean-out and hangs from feeder for drying and storage.

FEED WINDOW (when Feed Gate is open) automatically floods pan with feed to attract chicks from day one. Saves labor — no more hauling and scooping feed into feeder pans!

ROLL-FORMED TUBE is galvanized inside and out for rust-resistance.

LARGE DOME discourages growing birds from getting into pan.

MINIMAL FEED STORAGE within dome means fresh feed quickly to all birds.

SELF-LEVELING PAN — a patented Chore-Time feature — cuts feed waste and bird bruising since pans can swing.

EASY-TO-ADJUST FEED LEVEL lets you set feed opening to allow for different types of feed you might decide to use.

UNIQUE PAN SHAPE and low pan height is ideal for chicks, with no grill to obstruct eating. Pan has 13-inch diameter.

BUILT-IN HIGH CONE evenly distributes feed in pan, prevents stale feed buildup in feed level tube.

DOUBLE FEED-SAVER LIP on pan limits raking and billing and helps you save every bit of precious feed.

FARM BUREAU ACRES

opening. Ending stocks were unchanged.

ACRES WHEAT UPDATE: Wheat futures prices continued lower today, ending the session from 3-1/2 to 5-1/4 cents lower. Pressure was exerted by late fund selling tied to reports of an increased harvest pace and bearish technical factors. Buyers were absent in advance of this afternoon's production report, which showed production at 1.462 billion bushels and was termed bearish by traders and analysts. The estimate of the hard red crop at 708.5 million bushels was sharply higher from the June estimated of 682 million bushels. Many had expected declines and were surprised by today's figures. Ending stocks showed an increase from 500 million bushels to 592 million with projections for a prices to drop tomorrow from 2 to 4 cents on the opening.

ACRES CATTLE UPDATE: Live and feeder cattle added to yesterday's gains and closed higher from 15 to 60 on the fats and 20 to 80 on the feeders. Trading throughout the day was light with buying tied to ideas that supplies would be limited longer term. Feeders were propped by reports of higher cash prices at auction barns for replacement cattle. Central Carlot beef trade was unquoted on the yield grade 3 choice steers weighing 600 to 900 lbs.

CME FEEDER SETTLEMENT PRICE: July 11, 1989 - $81.54 dn $ .04.

NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: CASH PRICES - steady FUTURES - steady.

ACRES HOG UPDATE: Live hog futures closed mixed today with the front three options lower from 20 to 33 points while the December gained 20 points and the February dropped 12. Today's session was choppy with volume light. Support early in the day was attributed to hopes for stabilizing cash markets and expectations for firmer midday product. Reports of lower cash prices and lower midday quotes dropped futures with August and October reaching contract lows. Bellies were mostly lower in lackluster activity on pressure from declining fresh belly prices.

Conservation Tillage Expo Set For August

NEWARK, DE — Delaware farmers are leaders in innovative tillage techniques. In 1988, Delaware had 23 percent of its agronomic crops planted in no-till and 67 percent of agronomic crops in conservation tillage, according to the Conservation Technology Information Center.

The Delaware No-till Council is sponsoring a field exposition in Felton on August 10, 1989, to demonstrate conservation production techniques for field crops.

On display at the expo will be corn, soybeans and sorghum planted conventionally, no-till and ridge-till. Demonstrations of the newest conservation tillage equipment also will be an integral part of the program.

In addition, farmers who are adopting innovative conservation tillage techniques will be available to answer questions during the expo, scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to noon.

To get to the William's farm from Route 13, turn east on Felton-Fredericka Rd. (#12). The farm is at the corner of Felton-Fredericka Rd. and Canterbury Rd. (#15) and will be marked by a blinking traffic light and an expo sign.

The Delaware No-till Council was formed in 1985 to encourage development of no-till farming in the state. It serves as an educational and support group for growers, industry, the University of Delaware and Delaware State College as well as county, state and federal regulatory and service agencies.

All expo attendees are invited to join a trip on the Delaware Bay to fish for sea trout and flounder. The boat will be boarded at the Tradewinds Dock at North Bowers Beach at 2:30 p.m. Food and beverage will be provided on the boat, which will return to the dock at 8 p.m.

Tickets are available for $18. Interested parties may register by August 1, at any county Extension office in Delaware. Mail registrations are being accepted by Delaware No-till Council, c/o University of Delaware Research and Education Center, RD#2, Box 48, Georgetown, DE 19947.

For further information call the Sussex County Extension office at 856-7303.

Biosecurity Manual — A Small Investment With A Big Return

BY PAT PURCELL

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Good herd health is the foundation of an efficient and profitable dairy farm. As the profit margin continues to narrow on Northeast dairy farms, it is not enough to correct animal health problems. Today, profitability hinges on prevention.

Prevention begins with farm biosecurity. Biosecurity is the management practice which protects the herd from the entry of new diseases and minimizes the spread and/or adverse effects of diseases in the herd. Herd health may be a familiar concept, but biosecurity must be the focus for every farmer who plans to continue farming into the 21st century.

The only thing predictable about the dairy industry is that it will change. Just how it will change, few can be sure. To plan for a healthy profit margin farmers are scrutinizing management practices and searching for more ways to cut costs.

While milk production is important, it takes second place to costs. The farmer who can increase milk production by 2,000 pounds will not be any farther ahead if his per CWT costs have increased beyond his return. The focus on biosecurity puts the farmer's management skills under the microscope to detect those unhealthy practices which may be robbing precious dollars from the dairyman's enterprise. Biosecurity, is the knot that binds together good herd health to a healthier return on the farmer's investment.

With this goal in mind the "Pennsylvania Dairy Health and Biosecurity Manual" was put together by Larry Hutchinson, D.V.M., PSU Extension Veterinarian; Tina L. Smith, D.V.M., assistant extension veterinarian; and Carolyn M. Burns, veterinary extension specialist.

Copies of the Pennsylvania Dairy Health and Biosecurity Manual are available for $8.00 from Penn State University, Publications Distribution Center, 112 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802.

The manual's notebook design allows for quick reference and the easy removal or addition of pages for constant updating. It is divided into eight sections.

- Checklist
- Control of New Arrivals
- Control of Farm Traffic
- Separation of Groups
- Sanitation and Disinfection
- Preventive Medicine
- Disease Resistance
- Meat and Milk Quality

Checklist

The checklist is to be followed for every new animal on the farm. Its design helps the farmer plan, organize and carry out necessary procedures at the proper time from birth to 24 months and beyond. The checklist includes:

A. Control of new animals
B. Calf and heifer calendar (birth to 24 months)
C. Cow calendar
D. Environmental Management
E. Vaccination program
F. Parasite Program
G. Quality assurance

The remainder of the manual is a series of information sheets on health and biosecurity subjects and practices. This information explains the checklist and is divided into seven sections covering:

- Control of New Arrivals
- Control of Farm Traffic
- Separation of Groups
- Sanitation and Disinfection
- Preventive Medicine
- Disease Resistance
- Meat and Milk Quality

Control of New Arrivals

This section discusses the value of a health certificate, closed herd, and animal isolation in addition to bovine leukosis and Johne's disease.

The manual lists 15 steps necessary to eradicate Johne's disease from the herd. According to the manual, "in known infected herds, it is possible to eradicate Johne's disease if a program is carefully implemented. Eradication has been achieved in both Johne's vaccinated and non-vaccinated herds.

Control of Farm Traffic

This section offers information on the identification and removal of the three species of birds which create unsanitary conditions for humans as well as livestock. Pigeons, house sparrows and European starlings consume and contaminate food and are responsible for transmitting a number of diseases to livestock and poultry. The accumulation of droppings is corrosive to equipment and birds cause additional damage by destroying building insulation.

To avoid bird problems limit availability of food and water by:

Cleaning up spilled grain.

Storing grain in bird proof containers.

When possible, using covered feeders that exclude birds.

The best way to reduce bird problems in buildings is to exclude them from the buildings. This can be costly initially, but in the long run it is the most cost effective.

Rats and Mice

"Rodents can spread or accelerate the spread of established diseases from contaminated areas to uncontaminated areas via their droppings, feet, fur, urine, saliva or blood. Rodents travel through infected feces of isolated sick cows and then contaminate the food and water of healthy animals several hundred feet away."

Rodents cause a great deal of economic loss from gnawed feed sacks, contaminated feed and through transmission of disease. Rodents multiply quickly making it important to monthly check rodent populations and continue control methods. The manual includes recommendations for control and list supply houses.

Recommendations are also included for visitor control. People spread contaminated material as much as brids and rodents.

Separation of Groups

Calf and heifer housing is examined including individual hutches and group hutches. Building plans are also included for hutches, gang hutches, open front shed and gated freestall barn.

Sanitation and Disinfection

This section discusses proper procedures for disposal of dead animals, treating foot rot, manure management and disease control and sanitation of maternity and bedding. Also, included is a list of common disinfectants, their characteristics and uses.

Preventive Medicine

Identification, treatment and eradication of ringworm and contagious mastitis and also to external parasites including lice, mange, grubs and to such internal parasites as flatworms, protozoa, and roundworms.

Disease Resistance

Perhaps because of its plentiful

PFA Supports Weather Legislation

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) and its parent organization, the American Farm Bureau Federation, are supporting passage of weather disaster legislation currently being considered by Congress.

The House of Representatives has approved H.R. 2467 which would extend last year's drought assistance program to this year's crops. It would cover a variety of weather disasters including drought in the midwest and excessive moisture in the northeast. The Senate has not yet taken action.

Richard Newpher, PFA administrative secretary, said, "Pennsylvania's farmers are in for another tough year because of adverse weather; this time because of prolonged rainy spells."

The Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service (PASS) reported that above-normal rain for eight consecutive weeks this spring delayed plantings of corn and soybeans. Wet field conditions and slugs have already caused deterioration of the corn crop in many central counties, according to PASS.

"With a shortened growing season most likely to be in store for Pennsylvania's corn crop, the quantity and quality of this year's harvest is in serious doubt," Newpher said, "An early frost will greatly reduce the crop's value as forage."

The same poor outlook holds for this year's hay crop, according to Newpher. "Right now, farmers should be seeing their third cutting of hay growing in their fields," Newpher said, "Instead, the second cutting isn't off yet and much of what is being harvested is in fair to poor condition.

"It's almost certain that dairy farmers will be needing to purchase considerable amounts of protein to supplement the poor quality of feed they'll be able to grow this year," Newpher said. "With shorter supplies in the midwest due to dry weather and increased demand from the northeast, the result can only be more purchased feed at higher costs for Pennsylvania dairymen who already saw feed costs soar due to last year's drought.

"But," Newpher added, "dairymen and also livestock farmers feeding animals aren't the only ones suffering. The wet weather has diminished berry harvests and delayed vegetable plantings. A late freeze and poor pollination conditions have lowered the state's peach crop by nearly one-fourth. All in all it looks like it could be another difficult year for Pennsylvania agriculture. That's why it's important to have disaster legislation ready if needed."

PFA is a voluntary, general farm organization representing over 23,000 farm families in 54 county associations. It is a member of the 3.6-million member American Farm Bureau Federation.

Noted Ag Economist Joins Dairylea

SYRACUSE, NY — Clifford M. Carman, a nationally recognized agricultural economist with extensive dairy experience, has joined Syracuse-based Dairylea Cooperative Inc. as Director of Economics and Policy Analysis.

Since 1986, Carman has been agricultural economist for Agway Inc., one of the nation's leading farm supply cooperatives, also headquartered in Syracuse, NY.

Prior to joining Agway, Carman had served for 14 years in several key posts within the National Economics Division, Economic Research Service of the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). One of his major responsibilities at USDA was as principal writer of the "Dairy Situation and Outlook," an economic summary of current data and projections extensively utilized by the nation's dairy industry. He also contributed monthly to the "Agricultural Outlook" and the "World Agricultural Supply and Demand Estimates," both widely consulted publications of the USDA. While at USDA, he also participated in the development and operation of the Cross Commodity Modeling system, and other computer software development.

At his new post at Dairylea, Carman will be responsible for economic analysis, price projections and will work on policy issues as part of the 2,000-member cooperative's management team.

Carman earned his B.S. and M.S. in Agricultural Economics at the University of Georgia in Athens, GA. He is a graduate of Madison Central High School in Madison, NY, where he served as president of the Madison County Chapter of Future Farmers of America (1966). He also received an associate degree from the State University of New York at Delhi before going on to the University of Georgia.

Carman resides in Manlius, NY.

The supreme champion ram, a Suffolk yearling consigned by James Hefner, Lima, Ohio, sold for $525. The ram was purchased by J. W. Percival, Painesville, Ohio.

The high-selling Suffolk ram was the reserve champion consigned by Lauden Acres, Dalmatia. The yearling sold for $700.

supply in most areas and because nearly everyone takes it for granted, water is often overlooked as a critical part of every animal's diet.

A shortage of water can cause severe problems which includes limiting milk production.

Dairy cattle need a plentiful supply of water for:

—Normal fermentation and rumen metabolism
—Proper flow of feed
—Digestion and absorption
—Normal blood volume
—Tissue needs

Dairy cattle need to take in nearly five pounds of water per day for every pound of milk produced. Adequate water intake is top priority, but also, water quality is important. Dairy cattle are more sensitve to poor water quality than other animals because of the large quantities which they consume.

Water quality can be affected by bacteria and also by a variety of compounds, each with its own affect on the herd. All factors which can affect water quality are listed as well as the affect it may have on dairy cattle.

Animal stress, mechanical ventilation systems, animal health and environment are also discussed. Included in this section are various building recommendations to reduce animal stress as well as the order number for plans availabe from Penn State and the USDA.

Meat and Milk Quality

A useful drug use guide is included in this section. This three-page list names the drug by chemical and by trade name, its recommended withdrawal time and milk discard period. It includes drugs used for non-lactating and lactating, as well as drugs administered by injection and orally.

Procedures to prevent drug residues are discussed with recommendations for strict adherence to these procedures. The dairy industry looses "$50 million dollars annually in antibiotic contaminated milk and meat which must be discarded for public health reasons. Undetected antibiotics in milk reaching processing plants inhibit the growth of bacteria required to produce cheese, yogurt, and other cultured dairy products, resulting in additional losses.

The manual should be a part of every dairy farmers library because it offers a lot of information on important concerns in easy to locate form. Copies of the Pennsylvania Dairy Health and Biosecurity Manual are available for $8.00 from Penn State University, Publications Distribution Center, 112 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802.

DAIRY BREED NEWS

Emphasis On Youth At National Brown Swiss Convention

FREDERICK, MD — The Maryland-Delaware Brown Swiss Breeders will be hosting the National Brown Swiss Convention this July 18-21 at the Sheraton Inn, Frederick, Maryland. This meeting marks the 109th Convention for Brown Swiss Breeders and we expect 400 dairymen from across the country, as well as international breeders and other industry-related participants.

The Maryland Junior Breeders have planned a fun-packed, learning and interesting Convention time for Juniors around the country. Many activities are geared for Juniors to start new friendships, see old friends, and learn more about the breed and industry in which they are involved.

Highlighting the Convention will be a "Swiss Miss America" contest and "Youth Trip to Europe" contest. These are the two main Junior events which have combined some old and new ideas to continue to encourage the youth of the breed.

Contestants representing their home-state as a Brown Swiss Queen will be interviewed and evaluated for the "Swiss Miss America." The new "Swiss Miss America" will receive a $100 scholarship, $400 towards a trip to Switzerland, and other special gifts. The Maryland Association (with the help of overseas friends) will organize the trip where she will stay with a Brown Swiss farm family.

The "Youth Trip to Europe" contest will select three individuals based on interviews, activities, and events involving Brown Swiss. The youth representative will live and work on a Brown Swiss farm. He or she will have the opportunity to experience the country's culture, tour historical sites, visit some outstanding Brown Swiss farms, and the country's Brown Swiss Office. Each of the three youth trip winners will receive $400 towards their trip to Europe.

Also highlighting the Junior Program will be a Dairy Bowl Contest. A dairy bowl is a contest where teams of four members compete against each other. Competition points are awarded for correctly answering questions about the Brown Swiss Breed, the dairy industry and closely related areas.

This Junior Brown Swiss Convention plans to be a fun-packed and learning experience for all that attend.

Clauss Urges Jersey Breeders To Mate For Protein Production

REYNOLDSBURG, OH — The 31st Annual Meeting of National All-Jersey Inc. (NAJ) was held recently in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. In his Presidential address, Richard Clauss, Hilmar, California, stated, "The success of the Great Basin Federal Order Multiple Component Pricing (MCP) plan has now been accepted by dairymen and industry leaders in that area.

"The economic sense of pricing milk on its component value other than fat, finally reached beyond California and is being accepted as workable by more and more leaders in the United States dairy industry. The increasing support and interest for MCP in the Federal Order Hearing in the Carolinas this past April 1 is another indication of producer and industry acceptance."

President Clauss challenged Jersey breeders to consider protein production when mating and feeding cows and recognizing outstanding cows. Clauss said, "The consumers like protein, so let's talk to them about protein and then let's sell them protein." In his concluding remarks Clauss said that he is ". . . confident that protein and Jerseys and the dairy products their milk produces will have an even more prominent and growing future in the U.S. dairy industry."

In his report to the membership, Executive Secretary, Maurice E. Core said, "The signals from consumers and milk handlers are loud and clear . . . increase protein production in relation to butterfat." Core gave several examples which support the preceding statement. These examples include more lowfat and skim milk being consumed today than whole milk.

Since 1970, the per capita consumption of lowfat and skim milk has more than doubled while during the same periods, per capita consumption of whole milk has decreased 50%." Core also reported on action taken by both the American Jersey Cattle Club and National All-Jersey Inc. Boards of Directors during their March meeting that recognize the changes in consumer dairy purchases. This action addresses the need for the Jersey breed to increase protein production.

Core stated, "The leadership of the Jersey organizations, is dedicated to the fact that long-term profitability will be strengthened when the dairy industry produces in greatest quantity those products preferred and purchased by the U.S. consumer."

In answering, "How is National All-Jersey Inc., doing in its efforts to promote Multiple Component Pricing (MCP)? Covington said over 60% of all the nation's milk producers market their milk to plants or co-ops using some form of MCP. One Federal Order is successfully using MCP and just recently another Federal Order hearing on MCP was completed. Jersey breeders are receiving over an additional $20 million annually for their milk as a result of MCP.

Looking toward the future, Covington said, "The main goal, priority and challenge of NAJ must be to do all we can to implement an equitable MCP system nationwide." Covington pointed out that the shift taking place in milk's value from fat to skim is causing a greater need for MCP especially for higher solids milk.

Covington also reported to the membership that NAJ has some of the top dairy economists and food scientists in the nation working with them in promoting MCP. Just recently, NAJ retained the services of two prominent Washington-based attorneys to help in this effort.

In his closing remarks Covington stated, "The dairy industry is constantly changing. Many of you sitting in this room today can remember when fluid plants were the only place to sell your milk for top dollar and cheese was a by-product. You can remember when skim milk was fed to hogs. Now it is the most valuable part of milk and what people want to drink. It was only a few years ago that most whey was spread on fields. Now it is exported to Japan. Who knows what the future of the dairy industry holds. Because the dairy industry is constantly changing, because of the uniqueness of Jersey milk, and because Jersey producers area a minority, the Jersey breed needs National All-Jersey Inc."

Dr. C.A. Ernstrom, National Dairy Board Senior Vice President for Product Research and Development, shared with the membership current Dairy Board activities regarding new product research. Dr. Ernstrom slated that the Dairy Board is funding 163 active research projects.

Dr. Ernstrom commented on the cholesterol research. He stated that 85% of the cholesterol can be removed from 2% milk. The cost of this process would only increase the cost of milk about four-cents per gallon. He also commented on research being done to modify the composition of milkfat by feeding.

Discussing new uses for milk fat, Dr. Ernstrom said good opportunities exist for using more milkfat in chocolate candies and by the U.S. military. The U.S. military has six dairy plants located outside the U.S. These plants currently buy NFDM powder and reconstitute it with palm or coconut oil. The Dairy Board is working to get them to use milkfat instead of palm or coconut oil.

The membership approved the following statement on Bovine Somatotropin (BST):

National All-Jersey Inc., recognizing the public perception of dairy foods as safe and natural; and recognizing that some publicity about Bovine Somatotropin (BST) has created an atmosphere of consumer uncertainty; and acknowledging that associated issues such as economic impact upon dairy farm profitability, DHI testing concerns and genetic evaluations are of far less importance than responding to consumer preferences in dairy purchases:

encourages the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, Office of Technology Assessment and BST manufacturers to undertake a comprehensive educational campaign directed toward all segments of the dairy chain from producers to processors and manufacturers to consumers; and to conduct appropriate market research to evaluate consumer perception and the results of those educational programs.

and also encourage USDA's Economic Research Service to provide additional micro-economic evaluation of the impact of BST upon the dairy industry as well as the Jersey breed.

Zuburg Speaks At NAJ Applauds Component Pricing

REYNOLDSBURG, OH. — Carl Zurborg, Chief Executive Officer of Swiss Valley Farms was the keynote speaker at the Annual Meeting of National All-Jersey Inc. held in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Swiss Valley Farms implemented a protein pricing program on August 1, 1973, being one of the first co-ops in the U.S. to do so.

Since then, according to Zurborg, Swiss Valley has paid nearly $10,000,000 in protein premiums to its members. Zurborg said, "This is over and above very competitive pay prices for milk. At the same time, our cooperative has remained profitable. I believe that one reason that we have remained profitable is that our products reflect a high quality in the competitive milk market.

"Our cheeses set up very well with a higher protein and our yogurts generally have good bodies which I think is a reflection of the quality of the products going in. We believe that most of the premiums that have been paid out to members have come back to our cooperative through higher yields in our cheese operations. It is true that we haven't picked up any extra yields in our fluid milk division but I think that we have a better bottle of milk because many of our members have been aiming toward higher protein when they set up their breeding programs."

In further comments, Zurborg stated, "There are a lot of other people who have benefited from protein pricing. Nearly 90% of the milk in the United States is affected by the Minnesota-Wisconsin average price formula which is set each month. It is my understanding that when USDA sets that pricing each month they pick up the premiums that are being paid throughout that area and add it into the basic price. It wouldn't surprise me that if many months there is at least a 25-cent per hundredweight premium throughout the greatest part of the United States to all dairy farmers simply because the basic formula for the M-W picks up the protein premiums and adds them to the actual Class III (basis formula) announcement."

Jersey Leadership Elected

REYNOLDSBURG, OH — Harold B. Wright, White River Junction, Vermont, has been elected President of The American Jersey Cattle Club (AJCC) at its 121st Annual Meeting held June 17, 1989, in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

At the time of his election, Wright was serving his second term as Director from the First District of the Jersey organization. He was recipient of the AJCC's Distinguished Service Award in 1981.

Appointed to fill Wright's unexpired term on the AJCC Board was John M. Palmer of Cornish, Maine. The Pike and Palmer family corporation, Highland Farms, Inc., bred the top-ranked Jersey bull in history, Highland Magic Duncan. Robert M. Pike and Family were named AJCC Master Breeder in 1987.

Two new Directors were elected during the meetings, while two other Directors ran without opposition. All will serve three-year terms.

Neal F. Schirm, Canal Winchester, Ohio, was elected to his first term as AJCC Director from the Fourth District. Schirm farms is one of the leading Jersey herds in the United States, averaging 17,300 lbs. milk, 739 lbs. fat and 625 lbs. protein. Schirm has served as president of the Ohio Young Farmers Association, treasurer of the Ohio Dairy farmers Federation, and delegate to COBA and Milk Marketing Inc.

D.L. (Darold) Strandberg, Alma Center, Wisconsin, was elected Director from the Tenth District. In partnership with his sons, D.L. owns Avon Road Jersey Farm, one of the high-ranking Jersey herds in Wisconsin with a 1988 DHIR lactation average of 15,811 lbs. milk, 772 lbs. fat and 606 lbs. protein. In addition to serving as a director of the Wisconsin Jersey Breeders Association and Dairyland Jersey Sires Inc., Darold has served on numerous civic boards.

Re-elected to the Board were Paul R. McCarthy, Jeffersontown, Kentucky, and Dan K. Bansen, Dayton, Oregon.

In the Board's reorganization meeting June 17, Duane Wickstrom, Hilmar, California, was elected AJCC Vice-President.

The AJCC was organized in 1868 to preserve the records of and promote the Jersey breed of dairy cattle in the United States. 1988 was an outstanding year for the organization, with 57,236 registrations, 53,258 cows on official performance programs, and a record 795 investors in Project Equity. The AJCC now occupies new offices at 6486 East Main Street in Reynoldsburg, Ohio.

Henninger To Serve His Community

to provide oversight of animal-health control programs and, more specifically, to be an advocate for animal health research and the establishment of an animal diagnostic system," explained Dr. Max Van Buskirk, director of the Bureau of Animal Industry for Pennsylvania. "The act that established the commission also provides for the establishment of a fund that the commission can administer for animal research and animal health diagnostic services."

One of the commission's functions will be to develop an animal diagnostic system. One way to do this would be to create a program by which the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture would coordinate diagnostic services performed by Penn State and the University of Pennsylvania.

Functioning as a departmental administrative body of PDA, the commission will contain 15 members including the secretaries of agriculture and health, the majority and minority chairmen of the House and Senate Ag Committees, three accredited veterinarians, and six active farmers.

On the commission are Boyd Wolff, secretary of agriculture; N. Mark Richards, secretary of health; Sam Morris, majority chairman of the House Ag Committee; Carmel Sirianni, minority chairman of the House Ag Committee; Edward E. Helfrink, majority chairman of the Senate Ag Committee; Patrick Stapleton, minority chariman of the Senate Ag Committee; Dr. Robert Graybill; Dr. Sherbyn Ostrich; Dr. John Enck; Dennis Wolff; Kent Strock; Robert Grabel; Scott McNamara; Chris Kimmel; and Henninger.

Lynn Henninger

The commission will meet later this month at which time an agenda will be developed. Because the commission is so new, Henninger and the other members are not entirely sure what concerns will be addressed first.

"I think there are a lot of areas that need to be addressed with the concentration of poultry and livestock in some parts of the state," commented Henninger. "For example, avian influenza and pseudo rabies. We need vehicles to address emergencies."

Henninger comes to the commission with a diverse background in agriculture. After graduating from Penn State and teaching vocation agriculture at Central Dauphin High School for one year, he began working for his father, Marlin, in the family mill.

In 1970 he bought the mill, E.G. Henninger & Son Inc., and three farms from Marlin. Henninger and his wife, Helen, are co-owners of the mill, a poultry and hog contracting business, and hog-, poultry-, and beef-production operations that include 1,800 acres of which half are rented.

In addition, Henninger is associated with a John Deere dealership, Purina dealership, a fertilizer blend plant and grain storage business, and a 250-sow farrow-to-finish operation.

Henninger has been involved with community organizations including the local fire company, the Mifflin County Recreation Association, the Upper Dauphin Area Shcool District, and a local church. He also served on the Dauphin County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service board and is a member of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association and the Pennsylvania Grange.

Henninger is looking forward to his four-year term as a commissioner. "I want to share information from the poultry angle to benefit all society," he said. He also will bring knowledge from other livestock areas to achieve his final goal: the betterment of the community.

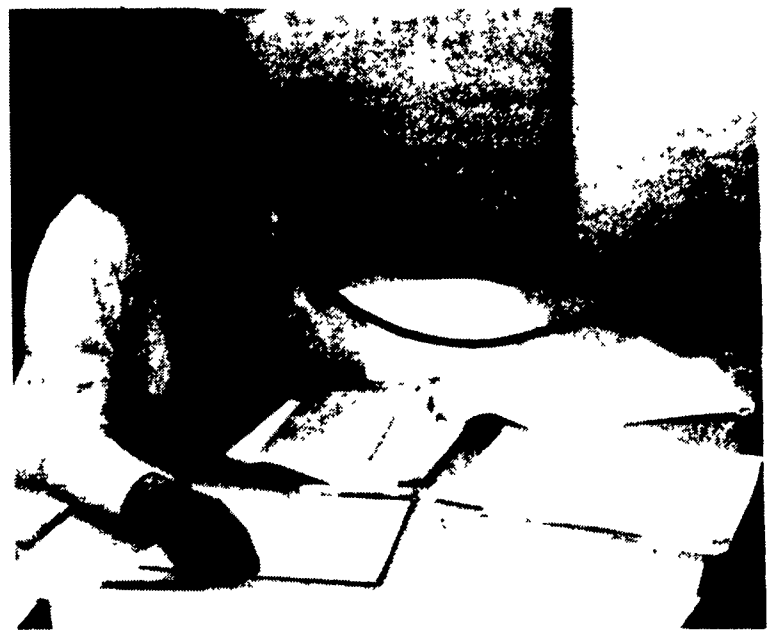
Hess Interns At Holstein Association

BRATTLEBORO, VT — Jennie Hess is one of three interns named recently by the Holstein Association to work in the Field Services Division this summer. Hess, a native of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, will work in the Association's home office in Brattleboro, Vermont.

Hess will assist in preparation and follow-up for the Association's National Convention junior events. She also will develop educational materials for junior member workshops and coordinate the July issue of the Holstein Junior Member Bulletin.

This fall, Hess will be a senior at the Pennsylvania State University (PSU). She will major in Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology and minor in Animal Science, emphasizing dairy. She has been active in the PSU Dairy Science Club, Ag Student Council, Delta Theta Sigma Little Sisters and has competed on the university dairy judging team. Last summer, Hess worked with youth development activities as a 4-H Assistant in Adams County. Hess was raised on a 150-head Holstein farm and was active in 4-H.

The other interns are Kevin Jorgensen of Pine River, Wisconsin, and Rick VerBeek of Marne, Michigan.



Jennie Hess of Gettysburg, Pa., is interning in the Holstein Association's Field Services Division in Brattleboro, Vt.

Lancaster Sets Goat Field Day

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — The annual Lancaster County goat field day will be held 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. on Saturday, July 22, at Jacob Fisher's Windy Hill Goat Farm.

Junior Dairy Judges Face Management Quiz

HARRISBURG, (Dauphin Co.) — What is component pricing? Do you know an asset from a liability? What is PI bacteria count? Can you identify garlic flavor in milk?

Contestants will be fielding such questions in the National Junior Dairyman Contest on September 26 at the 1989 Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

The All-American, largest dairy show east of the Mississippi, runs September 24-29 at the 60-acre Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. It showcases six breed shows, four sales and 2,500 top quality dairy cattle from 30 states and Canada, as well as two standard judging contests for dairy youngsters.

The Junior Dairyman Contest, sponsored by Pfizer Agricultural Division, is open to all bonafide 4-H and FFA members and students in private agricultural schools in the United States. It will be a long day as contestants evaluate two classes of cattle, identify cuts of meat, forages, dairy feeds, off flavors in milk and common milking equipment, and take quizzes on dairy marketing, dairy management and farm business management.

The Milk Squirts 4-H Club of Somerset County is the team to beat in the 4-H divison. The Pennsylvania team won two consecutive titles, and all members of last year's team were under 16 years of age. Defending champion in the FFA competition is also from Pennsylvania, the Conrad Weiser FFA of Berks County.

Collegiate, 4-H and FFA teams will share $6,525 in premiums during the Invitational Youth Dairy Judging Contest on September 25. A banquet sponsored by Agway and the Atlantic Breeders Cooperative caps off the day for those national contestants. Last year's Invitational drew teams from as far away as Oregon. The first place collegiate team, University of Wisconsin, won $225 and the Cuthbert Nairn rotating trophy, their third win in five years.

Maryland teams have dominated the 4-H and FFA divisions, with ten 4-H and seven FFA wins in the contest's 20-year history. But in 1988 a team from Union Local Chapter, Belmont, Ohio took first in the FFA division and a Wisconsin team from Dane County took the 4-H award.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Judging Forum draws the most contestants each year — 347 in 1988. The contest is limited to Pennsylvania 4-H members and vocational agriculture students.

Additional information and entry blanks for the three contests are available from Charles Itle, show manager, Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110-9408, or 717-787-2905.

The All-American is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania state Farm Products Show Commission. Over $87,000 in premiums will be offered to this year's exhibitors.

Young Cooperators Play Host At Philadelphia Zoo

SOUTHAMPTON (Burks Co.) — Visitors to the Philadelphia Zoo on Sundays this summer can learn firsthand about dairy farming, thanks to Atlantic Dairy Cooperative and its Young Cooperators.

On every Sunday at 12:30 p.m., these young dairy farmers and their families host a special milking demonstration in the Children's Zoo. They show visitors how to milk the zoo's cow, while explaining the milking process.

In addition, they answer questions about dairying and life on the farm and distribute farm literature. In sharing information with their audience, they explain how a cow converts feed, water and time into wholesome, nutritious milk.

Since 1977, the Young Cooperators have served as hosts of this popular program at the zoo, which is sponsored jointly by Altantic and Dairy Council Inc. of Southampton.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative represents 3,700 dairy farm families in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Sanitize Calf Feeding Equipment To Prevent Diarrhea

COUDERSPORT (Potter Co.) — When dealing with outbreaks of neonatal diarrhea, check the sanitation of feeding equipment carefully. Buckets, bottles, and equipment used for mixing milk replacer should be just as clean as for handling milk for human consumption. Buildup of solids in feeding equipment is a perfect medium for the growth of several enteric pathogens.

Rinsing: Rinse milk solids from equipment after use. Use water at a temperature between 95 degrees and 125 degrees F. Keep the surface wet to prevent any remaining solids from drying.

Alkaline: Brush surfaces with an alkaline or chlorinated alkaline cleaning solution. This solution should be between 115 degrees and 125 degrees. Follow manufacturer's instructions. Use a chlorinated alkaline cleaning compound if protein build-up is a problem. Use good brushes to help remove milk residues from all surfaces, including corners and narrow spaces of buckets or feeding bottles.

Water: Rinse equipment in an acid cleaner to remove mineral deposits such as milkstone. An acid anionic sanitizer may be used as an acid rinse. Follow the manufacturer's usage and application instructions.

Acid Cleaner: Rinse the equipment in an acid cleaner to remove mineral deposits such as milkstone. An acid anionic sanitizer may be used as an acid rinse. Follow the manufacturer's usage and application instructions.

Dry: Inspect wet surface for water beads and then let equipment dry. A dry surface will restrict bacterial growth and help you detect mineral deposits. A warm water rinse helps equipment dry sooner. Allow the equipment to air dry.

Inspection: Inspect the surfaces of all dry equipment. White, chalky deposits indicate mineral deposits such as milkstone while a blue area indicates protein deposits. Deposits are a sign of improper cleaning.

Sanitize: Just before using equipment, apply a sanitizing solution of hypochlorite at 200 ppm or an iodophor at 12.5 ppm for the time recommended by the manufacturer. These sanitizers do not have to be rinsed if they are allowed to drain from the surfaces.

Remember:

-- Always follow manufacturer's instructions.

-- Always measure cleaning and sanitizing compounds.

-- Always inspect cleaned equipment for milk and mineral deposits.

-- Always sanitize equipment just before use.

Dairy Products Dominate Pennsylvania'a Agriculture

WASHINGTON, DC — Dairy Products accounted for 36 percent of Pennsylvania's agricultural products sold in 1987, figures from the Commerce Department's Census Bureau show. Milk cows totaled 673,054. Dairy product sales amounting to $1 billion were sold from 13,665 farms. All livestock, poultry, and their products accounted for $2.3 billion or 73 percent of total agricultural sales.

The 1987 Census of Agriculture shows that Pennsylvania's total agricultural sales amounted to $3 billion. Crops, including nursery and greenhouse products, accounted for 27 percent or $826 million.

The 51,549 Pennsylvania farms counted in 1987 were 7 percent fewer than in 1982, when the last agriculture census was taken. Some 50 percent had 1987 sales of $10,000 or more, and 15 percent had sales of $100,000 or more.

Production expenditures for the state's agricultural operations came to $2.4 billion. Agricultural operations paid 10 percent less for commercial fertilizers, 25 percent more for agricultural chemicals, and 30 percent more for hired farm labor. They spent 3 percent more for livestock and poultry feed.

For more information on published reports and machine readable data from the 1987 Census of Agriculture, and also data from previous agriculture censuses, contact the Agriculture Division, Bureau of the Census, Room 436, Iverson Mall, Washington, D.C. 20233, ATTN: Agriculture Information Specialist; or call (301) 763-1113.

More highlights from the 1987 Census of Agriculture for Pennsylvania are listed on page 2. Dollar values in this release and on the fact sheet have not been adjusted for changes in price levels. Since sampling is used to collect data for selected items and to account for nonresponding farm operations, the results are subject to sampling variability as well as reporting and coverage errors.

Farm and Land Statistics

• Some 46 percent of Pennsylvania's farms were 50 to 179 acres. The average size of a farm was 153 acres.

• The state's farm operators reported that crops were harvested from 4,080,153 acres in 1987 and that irrigated acres totaled 29,505. Irrigated land increased 63 percent and harvested cropland declined 7 percent between 1982 and 1987.

FARM MANAGEMENT

Structuring The Labor Force

By Roland P. Freund
Regional Farm Mgmt. Agent
PSU Coop. Extension

Penn State Farm Management Agents are taking an in-depth look at Labor Management with a series of eleven articles. Legal and tax issues have been discussed in the past two weeks. In this edition we will consider how to structure the workforce to create a pleasant and efficient workplace environment.

Functions of farm workers

A farm worker can, on any given day, function as manager, supervisor, technician, laborer, or any combination of these roles. So, these workers wear many "hats" and need to have different levels of skills, responsibilities, and authority to go along with each "hat". Some problems can occur when an individual in the organization switches roles, but does not change the "hat" that goes with it.

Who needs to organize?

Every workplace in which more than one person operates needs to have the duties, responsibilities, and the authority of each worker clearly defined. This is especially true where family members work together under arrangements that are often "assumed" but rarely, if ever, discussed. In the barnyard a natural peck-order is established at the expense of a few feathers and a little bloodletting. People should be able to do these things with less trauma!

Failure to define the working environment can result in unreal hopes, dissatisfaction, high labor turnover, and family feuds. The right time to organize is before these symptoms appear, but regular examination and revision of the organizational chart can identify and correct potential problems at any time.

Responsibility and Authority

The key to efficient labor management is to delegate responsibility. But for every level of responsibility there must be an equal level of authority. Delegation takes place along lines of authority. The organization chart shows how these lines of authority are defined. How the business is structured will depend upon it's complexity, the capabilities of the individual workers, and the individual preference of management.

"No man can serve two masters..."

This ancient principle is basic to the organization of every labor management team. Communication and accountability need to take place only between two individuals to avoid confusion and potential frustration. See figures 1. and 2.

Charting the Organization

In an existing business it is

FARM FORUM OUR READERS WRITE

Editor

Saw Jay Irwin's article about thistle, one of my most dreaded weeds.

Have you looked at the traffic circles lately? Inside the mow line there is enough thistles to pollute the entire county. How can farmers cope with thistle when the state allows it to go to seed?

I think the Boy Scouts might adopt a traffic circle & plant trees which will eventually shade out the thistle & somewhere down the road they could say, I helped plant those trees. The Scouts are always looking for projects. What could be better than trees instead of thistle in the traffic circles.

The state has the trees, I would guess the Scouts would plant them.

MANAGEMENT

important to first define the present structure. What you have may not be what you think it is. One way to find out is to have all workers keep track of their activities and communication patterns for about a week. This will reveal who each person reported to, and from whom each took orders. It might also show the main duties of each worker. A diagram can now be drawn with connecting lines indicating the lines of authority that are operating. See figure 3.

If we look at an example operation in this way we can see some potential conflicts. The mechanic has a problem with two bosses, as do the shift workers and the drivers. Part of the problem appears to be that the livestock and crop production managers are not communicating. Now let's see how these problems might be overcome.

Reorganizing the Workforce

Without changing the main function of any position, lines of authority can be redefined to reduce the major conflict points identified above. There might be several effective ways of doing this, but one is illustrated in figure 4.

Workers at each level are now responsible to a single person at the next higher level of authority. The upper levels of management are now encouraged to communicate so that they can coordinate the functions and fill the labor needs of each section.

Maintaining the Chain of Command

Farms can never operate like factories. These days when storm clouds gather, all hands must be pressed into getting the hay in the mow. Under such conditions, the person who is in charge of field operations (the foreman in our example), is still in charge of haymaking. If the farm manager goes out to drive the tractor he must leave his manager's "hat" in the office, put his driver's cap on, and ask the foreman which field he should bale first.

Likewise, if the livestock division is shorthanded for shiftworkers, the Livestock Production Manager may do a shift or two. If the new structure is going to be made to work, the herdsperson must retain the authority, and continue to direct all shiftworkers - including his manager, so long as manager wears the "hat" and functions as a shiftworker. Unless management is willing to recognize such changes in function, they will seriously undermine the authority which they have delegated to others.

Put it in writing

Once the research and charting to define the structure of the farm business organization have been completed, then we are ready to write down the details of each position, including who will supervise it, and who it will be required to supervise. These and the full list of duties and conditions are included in the job description.

How to prepare a job description will be the topic of next week's installment.

Real Or Imitation? Asks American Dairy Association

ROSEMONT, ILL — American Dairy Association (ADA) and its member organizations hosted country singing star Kenny Rogers celebrity look-alike (Kenny St. Clair) May 20-24 in the American Dairy Association booth at the National Restaurant Association show.

ADA's message was straightforward: Don't be fooled by imitations. St. Clair challenged show attendees to learn the advantages of using real dairy foods over imitations and asked attendees to take the "REAL" pledge — a promise to use real dairy foods.

The celebrity look-alike distributed "I Discovered the Possibilities" buttons which reinforce the ADA foodservice theme, "REAL Possibilities . . . They're Endless."

Cooking Demonstrations Add Real Dairy Appeal

Booth activities also included cooking demonstrations featuring dairy menu items.

Throughout the five-day NRA show, Winston Riley, executive chef of the Food Enhancement Group of Noble Communications, prepared mushroom and cheese crepes, Ricotta cheese cannoli, three cheese appetizers, cheese and wine fondue, strawberry butter, cheese and chili soup, and Blue cheese salad dressing.

Riley has more than 14 years of experience in foodservice and hospitality, including extensive management training with the restaurant division of Saga Corp. (Velvet Turtle Restaurants) and Gilbert/Robinson (Houlihan's, Fedora, and the Bristol Bar and Grill). He is a graduate of the Culinary Institute of America and also has attended the University of Nevada Hotel/Restaurant Management School.

"Our activities were designed to break through the trade show 'clutter,'" said Steve Dohrmann, ADA marketing planning vice president. "The celebrity look-alike 'appeal' and cooking demonstrations focused attention on our message to promote the use of real dairy products in foodservice operations and promote ADA and its members as an idea and information source to the foodservice industry."

The National Restaurant Association show is the largest trade exposition of its kind, providing a forum for educating operators and distributors about dairy products and explaining the mission of ADA and its member organizations in foodservice operations.

Foodservice establishments account for an annual $16 billion in dairy food sales.

American Dairy Association is the advertising and marketing services unit of United Dairy Industry Association. UDIA is a member-driven federation which coordinates a total promotion program for U.S.-produced milk and real dairy foods.

Riley Heads 4-H Urban Dance, Theater Arts Program

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Helen C. Riley has been named assistant 4-H youth agent for Penn State Cooperative Extension in Dauphin County. She began her educational duties on June 5.

"Helen Riley brings a unique and innovative direction to our 4-H urban program," says Dr. Wayne Schutjer, associate director of Penn State Cooperative Extension. "It is our hope that through dance and theater she can reach some of our youth-at-risk. The 4-H urban program is evolving in Pennsylvania. In addition to our traditional programs, our professional staff and leaders are developing innovative and imaginative programs to give urban youth an opportunity to learn valuable communication, leadership and life skills."

In her new role Riley plans to conduct a multicultural program in theater arts. "I believe that young people in the inner city lack meaningful outlets for their enormous talents," she says of her new position. "What some of them need is a way to express themselves and a means to draw upon their energy and creative talents.

"We realize that a program in theater and dance is not a panacea for all of the problems of urban youth, but for some this will provide a sense of self-confidence that comes with a commitment. To be done well, dance and theater require a tremendous amount or self-discipline. I hope to instill that sense of self-worth in the young people I work with."

Born in Philadelphia, Riley spent a number of years working with professional dance groups around the country as a dancer and a choreographeer. In 1977, she decided to return to college to pursue her interest in teaching dance and theater. She went on to earn her bachelor's degree in fine arts in dance and her master's degree in dance education from Temple University.

For the past two years she has been an instructor in the Harrisburg Arts Magnet School. She has given guest lectures at Temple University, Swarthmore College, Penn State and West Virginia University.

In the Harrisburg School District, she taught creative dance, dance performance, dance history and physical education to students from ninth to 12th grade. As an artist-in-residence for the William Penn School District, she conducted multidisciplinary programs with a playwright and composer. The goal of the project was to enable students to become familiar with the skills of play writing, editing, auditioning, staging, acting and set design.

Riley also has been a dance consultant to the Bodine High School for International Affairs, an adjunct faculty member at Temple University and dance instructor at the New Freedom Theatre in Philadelphia.

Unusual Spring Price Gains Bode Well For Dairymen

BY KARL BERGER
Special Correspondent

FREDERICK, Md. — Propelled by the continually expanding demand for cheese, milk prices have taken an unusual and unpredicted upturn in the last few months.

These rising prices during "spring flush"—when milk production traditionally peaks and prices bottom out for the year—signals tremendous gains in farm milk prices through the rest of 1989.

After revising his forecast upward several times, Jim Fraher, an economist for Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, is now estimating that the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series will peak at $12.70 a hundredweight in November. If so, it would mean the highest area milk prices since autumn of 1984.

The positive price picture offsets continued gains in the cost of producing milk. In particular, feed costs for many area dairymen are likely to rise as a result of rain-damaged hay crops, Fraher noted.

Moreover, the outlook doesn't lessen the likelihood that the government will impose a 50-cent support price reduction Jan. 1, 1990, Fraher said, although the actual impact of such a cut on milk prices may be minimal.

The M-W, a measure of the prices paid for milk by manufacturing plants in the upper Midwest, is the nation's benchmark pri[ce] The U.S. Department of A[gri]culture uses it to set prices in its nationwide federal order system. The $11.33 June M-W announced recently, for instance, will translate into a $14.36 price for August Class I milk in Federal Order 4 and a $13.88 Class I price in Order 2.

After strong gains last fall, the M-W peaked at $12.27 in December. It then fell rapidly to $10.98 in March and many forecasters were predicting further declines. Instead, it rose 11 cents in April, another three cents in May and 21 cents in June.

These surprising gains have more to do with a tight supply-demand situation, Fraher said, then they do with the 50-cent boost in the government's support price in effect from April through June. In a year of normal spring surplus, the M-W would have fallen to at least the support level of $10.83 (for milk testing 3.5 percent butterfat). Instead, it has stayed above this floor and observers not expect the M-W to remain market driven through the end of the year despite a support price that has returned to the $10.33 level.

Both the supply and demand sides of the marketing situation in the upper Midwest are currently favorable to higher prices. Consumption of American-type cheeses rose 9.1 percent from year-ago levels in the first quarter of 1989 and other cheese use climbed 3.3 percent, according to USDA figures. Meanwhile, January-May milk production in Minnesota and Wisconsin, which were hit hard by last year's drought, declined one percent from year-earlier levels.

As a result, "the cheese market has taken off like a rocket," Fraher said. Since April, block cheddar prices have risen nine cents a pound on the National Cheese Exchange in Green Bay, Wisc., according to observers. Prices there are well above support levels and are not expected to be affected by the 4.75-cent decline in the government purchase price resulting from the July 1 support price reduction.

Other positive factors include continued strong sales of non-fat dry milk (powder prices also have risen well above the support level) and only minor increases in milk production across much of the country. As usual, the exceptions are in the West, where January-May production in Texas is up 10 percent and, in California, up four percent, according to USDA figures.

(To date, Pennsylvania production is up 4 percent in 1989, but the gains appear to be slowing. Production in May was unchanged from a year ago. Similarly, year-to-date production in New York and Maryland was up just one percent.)

One market that will be affected by the lower government purchase prices is that for butter. As it did in raising its prices April 1, USDA skewed its lowered purchase prices July 1 to favor the powder side of the butter-powder equation. Thus the government's butter price fell 11.5 cents, to $1.205 a pound, while its powder price remained at 80 cents.

Lower butter prices on the commercial market in Chicago will reduce the butterfat differential paid to farmers in federal orders. In effect, Fraher said, the end result of higher prices for milk in general and lower prices prices for butterfat is that the skim or non-fat solids portion of milk has a higher value. Economists say this is appropriate at a time when farmers are producing more butterfat than the market can handle.

In fact, it is the government's purchase of surplus butter that is likely to force a Jan. 1 support price reduction under the formula set up by the 1985 farm bill. There have been virtually no government purchases of cheese or non-fat dry milk this year.

TINE
HARROW

The perfect tool for ridge and minimum till

The Fuerst harrow cleans ridge tops, creating excellent seedbed. Unique "Spreading Action"® tines hug the soil at faster speeds to shred and evenly spread no-till stalks in the spring.

Dozens of uses:

The harrow used behind a disc or cultivator, incorporates herbicides in one pass. Used alone, it covers broadcasted seed, renovates, maintains pastures and more.

The harrow/cart (an optional harrow carrier as shown) follows tight turns, has folding wings for easy transport. Harrow and cart are available in 16 to 42 ft. widths.

"I believe the harrow works as good as a stalk shredder; it lifts and shatters the stalks and yet doesn't tear up the ground."
Roger Bommer --
Brookville, IN

Fuerst's free swinging "Spreading Action"® tines make it the ONLY harrow that can effectively incorporate and shed trash.

PHILADELPHIA — A ground breaking ceremony for the addition to the Center of Animal Health and Productivity was held at the New Bolton Center campus of the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine. Senator Noah Wenger (second from right) and Representative Joseph R. Pitts (second from left) assisted Dean Andrews and Dr. Ramberg in the symbolic turning of the earth.

The addition will house offices, computer laboratories and seminar rooms, and will double the Center's current space. The Center for Animal Health and Productivity, established to provide service to farmers, training in production systems veterinary medicine, and research in animal agriculture, is funded by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Dairy Day At Hersheypark Set For Aug. 2

HERSHEY (Dauphin)— The combined delights of two favorite taste-pleasers -- ice cream and chocolate -- will be celebrated Wednesday, August 2, when the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program hosts "Dairy Day at Hersheypark."

Sweet-toothed amusement park visitors will have a chance to sample a giant banana split, if they're among the first 300 or so people to show up at 1PM at the park's "Comet Hollow" area. The 250-foot (or 3,000-inch)-long super-treat will be made from 40 gallons of ice cream, donated by Hershey's Creamery; almost two gallons of REAL whipped cream from Wengert's Dairy; and seven gallons of Hershey chocolate syrup and 40 pounds of Hershey candy toppings contributed by HERSHEY CHOCOLATE WORLD® Visitor's Center.

At 5PM there will be a drawing for free Hersheypark admission passes (14 winners, each receiving two passes), which are valid for the entire season. Entry forms are in the July editions of LANCASTER FARMING, and must be received by the PA Dairy Promotion Program in time for the August 2 drawing. Participants who submit their entry forms in person on the day of the event will receive a special free gift.

Throughout the day there will be dairy-theme activities, including a "Bossie Toss" bean bag game for the little ones, "Fishing for Nutrition" for older children, and the "Great Cheese Tease," requiring participants to guess the correct number of "holes" (eyes) in a five-pound Baby Swiss cheese. Contest winners will receive prizes donated by Hersheypark.

Additional entertainment will include dairy princesses presenting their original informative skits about dairy farming and dairy products.

New Procedures In Chesapeake Program

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Pennsylvania cooperators in the Chesapeake Bay Financial Assistance Funding Program face new procedures when seeking cost-share dollars for the installation of conservation practices. These practices, referred to as best management practices, are divided into three groups based on their estimated cost of installation.

Projects less than $1000 dollars will be administered as they always have been. The cooperator will submit the bills to the local Conservation District for reimbursement.

If a project is estimated to cost between $1000 and $25,000. The cooperator needs to seek at least three bids prior to installation of the practice and the Conservation District will base the cost-share amount on the lowest responsible bid.

Projects estimated to cost over $25,000, will require a sealed bid selection process. The Conservation District will publicly advertise the project and interested contractors will contact the District for a bid package including the projects plans and specifications, instructions, a bid sheet, and a sample contract. A site showing will be held and the Conservation District will receive sealed bids until a public bid opening is held. The cost-share amount paid to the cooperator will be based on the lowest responsible bid.

Regardless of which category the project falls under, the farmer selects the contractor he prefers to install the practice. The farmer also has the option to install all or parts of the practice himself in which case the cost share amount will be based on the average cost of the particular practice.

This procedure change affects all practices that were not approved by USDA Soil Conservation Service prior to May 1, 1989.

The Lancaster Conservation District is currently advertising for bids for the first project installation over $25,000 to come under the new procedures.

Contractors interested in these projects can check the Classified Sections of Lancaster Farming, the two Lancaster Newspapers, or call the Conservation District.

Ancient Pack Animal Offers Escape From Modern-Day Stress

BY PAT PURCELL

ANNVILLE (Lebanon Co.) — Graceful, gentle, elegant, beautiful. Surprisingly enough these words describe a 300 pound pack animal.

Take a few moments to watch this member of the camel family and it looks more like a delicate mythical creature than the pack animal domesticated nearly 5,000 years ago to save man from back-breaking labor.

"You have to meet a llama to know why someone has a llama," said Barbara Bohn of Annville, Pa. She and her husband Jeff purchased their first llamas nearly three years ago. Today 17 llamas proudly, gracefully roam their 40-acre farm.

"There is something in the carriage of a llahma. Stately, proud of himself, lots and lots of pride and a real sense of presence," adds Barbara. "They are a joy to watch."

Llamas are no strangers to the United States. Llamas and other members of the camel family orginated on the central plains of the North American continent where they spent their first 40 million years. Three million years ago camels migrated to Asia and Africa and the ancestors of the llamas migrated to South America. But the llama and camels became extinct in North America nearly 12,0000 years ago.

Now they're back. They were first imported to a game farm in the Catskills in New York in the 1920s and 1930s. Dick Patterson of Oregon started his herd in the 1950s and it now total 386 head. These aristocratic looking animals total between 10,000 and 12,000 in North America.

"I thought Jeff was absolutely nuts when he mentioned getting llamas. But when I saw these animals I was fascinated by the way they watch you, too," said Barbara.

Of the 12,000 llamas in this country few are used for packing although they are an extremely sure-footed animal due to their unique foot shaped much like a dog's foot. Although llama wool production is a multi-million dollar business in South America, llama wool has not quite caught on here. For wool production, a llama relative the alpaca is raised.

Then what are nearly 12,000 llamas doing in this country and why are people buying them and paying between $10,000 to $15,000 for females? (Prices of $35,000 to $100,000 are not unheard either.)

People within the industry purchase llamas for breeding and selling, but many other people buy these gentle animals for companionship.

They are great with children. Othello, the Bohn's male llama is dark and somewhat intimidating. Not in a threatening way, but his dignified and aristocratic demeanor make him seem unapproachable an aloof, but he is quite the opposite with children.

"He is great with children. We have taken him to the middle school for visits and all the kids just go running up to pet him and he stands there and doesn't move," explains Barbara. "Llamas seem to know these little people are children and that they have to let children pet them."

The part of their nature which makes them desirable pack animals, also makes them desirable pets for children and adults alike. Llamas are not easily frightened and will remain calm despite loud, unexpected noises or movements.

"We know an older gentleman who bought two llamas for pets. For health reasons he must take a lot of walks and he takes them with him and they are excellent companions for him," said Barbara.

Llamas appear huggable with their beautiful wooly coats and large eyes, but they prefer not to be hugged and they prefer not to be petted except around their neck or back. However, they are a very curious animal and will approach strangers with their noses. Llamas are known to touch noses with a stranger. Nose-to-nose contact is the way llamas sniff-out a stranger.

Llamas are extremely sociable and must have the companionship of other llamas. Those buying their first llama must buy a pair.

"A llama alone is an unhappy llama," said Barbara. "They are very expressive of their emotions and feelings."

Llamas are quick to communicate their emotions. They are usually known for their spitting which occurs over food disputes among other llamas. Llamas don't like to be nudged from their feed by another llama. When this happens and one spits, several of the llamas may stop eating until the group calms down again.

These gentle animals bring out gentleness in their owners. Their graceful movements and their noble stature can captivate their audience.

Llamas love to sun bath, according to Jeff.

"They love to lie in the sun and they will do it all day. It's not unusual for someone to call me at work and tell me they think one of my llamas is dead in the pasture," said Jeff.

Also, it's quite common for the reclining llama to be nudged out of its resting spot because another llama wants to eat that particular spot of grass.

"For a short time our females and babies were separated. They weren't very happy about it. You could see it in the way they held their tails and their ears and their eyes are so expressive. But then when we put them all together again they were so happy," said Barbara.

Llamas are also known for their humming. It is a steady hum which llamas make when they are mildly aggitated or disconcerted. For instance, when one of their group is removed they may begin to hum until that member is returned to the pen or pasture.

Llamas are intelligent animals and get bored quite easily.

"We were hiking on the High Bridge Dam Railroad bed which leads to the state game lands and there were mostly trees and they got bored with the same scenery. We had to nudge them to keep them going. There's nothing worse than three bored llamas," said Barbara.

"They get cranky and itchy and they'll just lie down. If they get bored in the barn, they get cranky and may start spitting at each other."

(Turn to Page B4)

Othello was recently purchased by Bohn's Farm Llamas for his stature and confirmation. This male's aristocratic and dignified airs makes him appear somewhat intimidating, but he is quite tolerant of nearby school children petting him, although llamas prefer not to be petted.

Llamas are extremely social. They are happiest when they are with other llamas. They communicate their feelings through a series of tail, eye and ear movements. And they can become very vocal. Learning the llama language is part of the joy of ownership.

Ancient Pack Animal

Although always gentle with people, mature llama males will fight ferociously with one another if put together.

"We had to place two mature males in neighboring pastures. Luckily they could not reach other, but they screamed at each other. It sounded like something between a gurgle and a very high pitched scream and it is real loud," said Barbara.

"It actually sounds like someone screaming out of real terror. It took a half-hour for them to settle down. The neighbors could hear this and were coming by to see what was happening."

Care and Feeding

Adding to their uniqueness, the llama demands little care. They are not big eaters and drink very little water. Although Barbara supplies the animals with 10 gallons of water each day, they rarely drink it. A llama may drink a quart of water a day, but none if on grass. They have been known to splash the water on their legs if it is an exceptionally hot day.

"Morning feeding takes 15-20 minutes in barn with hay and water. Llamas have easy births, too. They usually have their babies during the day between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. because in the Andes, where they come from, that's when the sun is the warmest. I just happened to be here when they were being born, but I didn't have to be," said Barbara.

Llamas are extremely clean and have little odor. Even a large herd of 25 llamas is odorless. Another unique feature of these dignified creatures is they share a common dung pile as a way of marking their territory.

The Bohn Farm will welcome 10 babies in the coming year. The gestation period for llamas is 11

(Turn to Page B5)

Nothing is more relaxing than watching a baby run through the fields of Bohn's Farm. The young are so bonded to their mother, that this young llama, junior, would not stray too far from mother. Although he was not fenced in.

Ancient Pack Animal

1/2 months. They may sell some and again they may not.

"Some people say the reason you have llamas is so you can have baby llamas. They are simply very enjoyable to watch," said Barbara.

Hobby Or Business

"Six to 10 years ago you could buy a llama female for $500. Three years ago females were selling for $7,000 to $9,000. Geldings would sell for $1,000 to be used just for pets or packing. Today they sell between $10,000 and $15,000. Some sell as high as $100,000," explains Barbara. "If you started your herd then, you have a giant return on your investment."

Breeding males were bringing between $10,000 to $20,000. At llama auctions the animals usually sell higher. Buying privately from owners can help to keep the purchase price down, according to Barbara.

Barbara and Jeff purchased their farm six years ago. Barbara was from a surburban area near Philadelphia. Not having farm animals while she was growing up she was eager to add livestock to the farm. They purchased three heifers several years ago, but the heifers were more concerned with the three bulls across the road and rarely stayed in their pasture.

After chasing heifers for a year, she sold them and up until last year, raised Angora goats. But the llamas, she believes, will make their farm a business and make the farm pay for itself.

"We got started in it as a hobby. It's going to make our farm a business and it's going to make our farm pay for itself," said Barbara.

Although the number of breeders around the nation is constantly growing, the market for llama females is far away from being saturated, according to Barbara.

Punjab enjoys a combing from Barbara Bohn. Although llamas are not raised for their wool in this country, they do produce a beautiful, soft wool which is a multi-million dollar business in South American. Jeff Bohn is at the halter.

Llamas enjoy watching people as much as people enjoy watching them. These curious animals move slowly to greet a stranger with nose-to-nose contact.

Earning Your Greatest Return

"Llahmas provide a service to their owners especially people who are self-employed and have high-stress jobs. Llamas are relaxing animals. They provide a get-away from it all," said Barbara.

Jeff and Barbara manage their own businesses. Jeff heads the Donmoyer Trucking company and Barbara manages the Country Apple Restaurant on route 22.

"We both have strange hours. We work six days a week and Jeff works all the time. When he's not working at the trucking company he works at the restaurant. He plays piano Saturday night and over Sunday noon at the restaurant," said Barbara.

"I know it helps Jeff relax. We sit and watch, especially the mother with her baby. It is relaxing and brings us a lot of joy.

"Llamas bring out the humanity in people. Having llamas makes people gentle. If a person is not gentle they won't get along with the llahmas," said Barbara.

"Llamas are unique animals. They make you stop and smell the roses.

The Bohns will be donating two llama geldings to the Church of the Brethren, to be sold at the Disaster Relief Fund Auction, Lebanon Fairgrounds, held in September.

Remember when buying llamas for the first time, they must be bought in pairs because an unhappy llahma is a lonely llama. Maybe that's why these animals are so captivating. They are so hauntingly human.

New And Old Ways With Potatoes

Meat and potatoes are the mainstay of good American cooking. That's just one of the reasons eating potatoes stuffed with just about anything, including meat, has become so popular.

Restaurants serve them stuffed with broccoli and cheese, chili or with the traditional butter and sour cream — just about anything goes.

Not only are stuffed potatoes fun to eat, but also they are good for you. When making a meal of the stuffed potato, choose large potatoes that can be cut in half for easy filling and topping. Combine them with another equally nutritious food, such as ground beef.

Another advantage to the stuffed potato meal is that it can be prepared quickly in the microwave oven. Begin by pricking the scrubbed potatoes lightly with a fork. This allows the steam to escape during cooking. Rotate the potatoes halfway through the cooking time to ensure even cooking. When the potatoes are removed from the microwave, they will still feel slightly firm, but will complete cooking during a five to 10 minutes standing time.

SHOE STRING POTATOES

Cook potatoes in jackets. Cool. Peel and grate potatoes in a pyrex dish. Cover with half and half (if a pint doesn't cover the potatoes, add regular milk). Salt and pepper to taste. Set in refrigerator overnight. Before serving, cover with Parmesan cheese and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Contributor writes that she was Cumberland County's 1987-88 dairy princess. "Was proud to wear the crown and banner for our Cumberland County farmers. Still proud to be a dairy farmer's daughter and still promoting Pennsylvania's finest...the dairy industry. I am on the Dairy Princess Promotional Committee for our county and still doing store and mall promotions. I just can't say enough to keep drinking and using milk. It's a product we should all get high on because it's 'America's Health Kick.'"

Ice Cream Soda

Kiebasa Sausage

12 pounds pork butts, ground coarsely
2 pounds ground veal
1½ tablespoons pepper
5 tablespoons salt
3 tablespoons sugar
2 cups water
10 yards casing

Mix all ingredients except casing and allow to stand overnight. Run water through the casing. Drain and stuff with meat mixture.

Place in refrigerator. If desired, slowly smoke sausage in outside smoke house for 6 to 8 hours. Use cherry or apple wood.

ANSWER — Reba Stauffer, Selinsgrove, requested a recipe for millet bread. Thanks to Wendy Wickard, Carlisle, for the following:

Millet Bread

3 tablespoons yeast
2½ to 3 cups warm water or milk
½ cup honey, sugar or molasses
½ cup oil
1½ teaspoon salt
1 cup millet
5 cups whole wheat flour

Dissolve yeast in liquid with honey or other sweetener. Add oil, salt and 3 cups flour. Mix well (beating improves texture). Stir in remaining flour and millet. Let rise until doubled. Divide in half and place in greased loaf pans. Let rise until it peaks over top of pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 60 minutes. Brush tops with butter, if desired. Bread bakes flat on top, not rounded.

ANSWER — JoAnne Hill of Lisbon, MD, requested a recipe to grill Delmonico steaks. Thanks to a reader who suggests that the steaks be placed on a grill (1-inch steak, 2 to 3 inches from heat; 2-inch steak, 3 to 5 inches from heat). Broil at moderate temperature. When one side is browned, turn, season with salt and pepper and finish cooking second side. Turn and season. Steaks cut 1-inch thick require approximately 15 to 20 minutes for rare and 20 to 25 minutes for medium. Steaks cut 2 inches thick require approximately 30 to 35 minutes for rare and 40 to 45 minutes for medium.

Ice Cream Recipe Churn Off Contest

The four major dairy promotion agencies serving Pennsylvania invite young and old alike to submit their favorite homemade Ice Cream Recipe to the Ice Cream Recipe Contest. The contest is being conducted August 16 at Ag Progress Days on Rock Springs Farms, near State College, by PA Dairy Promotion Program, American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Mid East UDIA, and Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association.

The contest is open to both individuals and groups such as 4-H, FFA, church groups, and auxiliaries. In order to be eligible the contestant must submit the complete recipe with their name, address, and telephone number to the PA Dairy Promotion Program, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110. The first ten entries will be accepted. Of course, only those recipes using real dairy products will be allowed to compete at the churn off. Entries must be received by close of business, August 1, 1989. Offer is limited to one entry per group or family.

During the churn off, contestants are responsible for providing their own ingredients, materials, and ice cream freezer. The rock salt and ice will be provided. The contest will be conducted at 1:00 p.m. on August 16 at the Pa. dairy promotion agencies booth, on the Ag Progress Days grounds.

The judges decision will be final. Judging will be based on: effective use of dairy products (30%); taste and visual appeal (30%); originality and creativity (30%); and ease of preparation (10%).

The contest is open to all Pennsylvania residents, except those with a professional food status or a professional affiliation with the PA Dairy Promotion Program, American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Mid East UDIA, and Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association.

The first place winner will receive $300, second prize is $100 and honorable mentions will receive new ice cream makers. There will be no substitution of prizes. Prizes are not transferrable. Income tax on all prizes is the responsibility of the winner. All federal, state, and local laws apply.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Picture it, if you will.

The quiet, peaceful, pastoral, rural countryside of a farm. Green trees, lush meadows split by bubbling brooks, cattle grazing on hillsides, golden strips of ripening grain, corn reaching out broad leaves to the warm sunshine, and neat windrows of mown hay perfuming the sultry air.

It's a myth. Or at least the quiet part of the scene is.

All this rural atmosphere comes not only with living color, but vibrant sound effects as well.

"Gosh, it's noisy around here," laments a young friend who occasionally spends the night. "The frogs croaked all night long. Then the roosters started crowing in the morning."

True. All true.

And not even mentioned was the yowling and howling of our plentiful tomcats, whose midnight vocal solos often earn them a quick trip out of the yard with Fritz snapping at their departing tails.

But, we're more amused by our frog chorus. For whatever reason, there seems to be a record-high population of them this year, perhaps due to the damp weather conditions which have persisted.

A walk around the smaller pond sends frogs galore flying off the bank and landing with a splash among the edging of cattail foliage which rims much of the water. As they leap into the air, many of these bright-green-faced amphibians protest the intrusion with loud "Chirps," which sound more birdlike than froglike.

Some evenings at dusk, Fritz, a couple of cats and I take a quick stroll around the pond's perimeter, just to watch and listen to the frogs launch.

A cheap thrill, for sure.

One ancient Kermit-like creature, however, seems to be undisputed ruler of the upper reaches of the pond, where its waters exit their springhouse source. A couple of times the size of its pondmates, this green guy (gal?) boasts a head at least the size of my fist, with a bass voice of equal impressiveness.

Consider that these dozens of "singers" are located just beyond the yard fence. Then, speculate how they sound on a warm July evening, with all the windows open.

Actually, the two or three roosters remaining around the place aren't all that noisy, except on those occasions when they choose to do their crowing right beneath the bedroom windows. Fact is, I rarely ever really hear them — really HEAR them, that is.

They're become part of that background din which one never really listens to when it's part of the normal everyday, routine.

Nor do we normally hear the constant racket of Bird City, which exists among the branches and limbs of the maples around the house. The bird chatter runs regularly from pre-daybreak to post-dusk; and only an unusual call from the norm — like the cardinals bossing at the feeder — stirs anyone's attention.

Recently, we've noticed what seems to be an almost constant droning overhead of jet engines, at least on some days. Speculation is that we lie near the initial approach pattern — under certain weather and wind conditions — for Dulles airport.

Air-traffic noise just blends with the steady hum of ground traffic from the Interstate, which slices through a corner of the farm. Major construction has quieted that somewhat this summer, reducing the usual four lanes of steady, 65-mph. vehicles to two lanes slowed to a crawl of 35-40-mph.

Those are just some of the major contributuons to the "Gosh, it's noisy around here" decibel levels.

The rest clude me at the moment — I guess it's just too noisy to hear myself think

Cumberland County Goat

The Cumberland County Goat Club met at the home of Justin and Derrick Carpenter on June 7th. After the Pledge of Allegiance and 4-H Pledge, roll was called. Entries for the Shippensburg Fair were given out and instructions for preparing them given. The members then viewed the goats of Justin, Derrick and Addison Rook, who brought his goat to the meeting.

On June 17th, the club participated in the Newville Old Fashioned Day by organizing an obstacle course for the goats. Ten members and their goats attempted to navigate the course. Members and observers enjoyed the event which was a first for the club.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Billy Leib on July 8th with a covered dish supper. A clinic on fitting and showmanship will be conducted by Ginger Myers. In addition, New Carlisle Fair entry information will be discussed and completed.

Cumberland County Youth between the ages of 8 and 18 interested in goats is invited to call the Cumberland County Extension Office at 249-7220 or either of the following leaders: Red Allen at 776-5097 or Suzie Leib at 697-5374.

Michael Holcombe

Hello,

I'm Michael Holcombe, 5 years old and living in Berks County with my father, James; mother, Karen; and four-year-old sister, Kelly.

Our house is on a hill in the woods and we can see the deer from my parents' bedroom window. We live near Pop-pop and Grandma Holcombe and visit them often. Sometimes I go along when Pop-pop fixes fence to keep his Angus cattle in the pastures. I have sent a picture of Pop-pop on his John Deere checking the fences.

We have a John Deere mailbox too.

I like to draw and paint. I was given the artist in resident' award at my preschool graduation in May. Kindergarten starts in September.

I'm learning to play the piano and will soon be playing duets with my grandma.

Learn to avoid dangerous situations like this one. Weaving down the middle of the road on a bike is careless and can cause accidents.

Children practice bike safety on roads by riding with the traffic, using hand signals, obeying signs and wearing helmets.

Be A Safe Biker

Biking is the second most popular participatory sport in the United States. But biking can be dangerous.

Bikes are vehicles, not toys, once they're taken out of the backyard or your driveway and on to the road. Operating your bike makes you a driver, not just a rider. Like drivers of other vehicles, you should act responsibly and know the rules of the road.

Ride with the traffic and obey all traffic signs. Know and use the hand signals for right turn, left turn, and slowing down. Keep both hands on the handlebars except when signalling.

Be visible, be alert, be predictable and be defensive are four bike safety tips worth remembering. Your bike should be equipped with reflectors, a headlight and a flag for better visibility. But avoid biking at night. The accident rate at night is 20 times higher than the daytime rate.

Most bicycle accidents occur at intersections, and most occur only a few blocks from home — for instance, when you're exiting your driveway. Watch for oncoming cars because most of them won't be watching out for you.

Because head injuries account for three out of every four fatalities in bike and car accidents, safety experts advise wearing a helmet.

Follow the biking rules, and enjoy a safe summer.

World's Largest Pea Picker

How many peas could a pea picker pick if a pea picker could pick peas? The answer: It could, it does and the number is about 10,000 pounds of peas per hour.

* * * *

The machine that pickes an amazing amount of peas in an amazingly short amount of time works much like the more familiar corn and wheat combines. As the PSC-156 Hi-Ton pea combine from FMC Corporation moves through the field, it strips the pea pods from the vine, gently shells the peas, deposits them in a 5,000-pound capacity hopper and simultaneously shoots vines, plant leaves and empty pods back into the field.

* * * *

If food companies had to harvest peas as they did 40 years ago, a can or package of peas could cost as much as five dollars. Next time peas grace your dinner table, you may be grateful they were brought to you in part by the "world's largest pea picker."

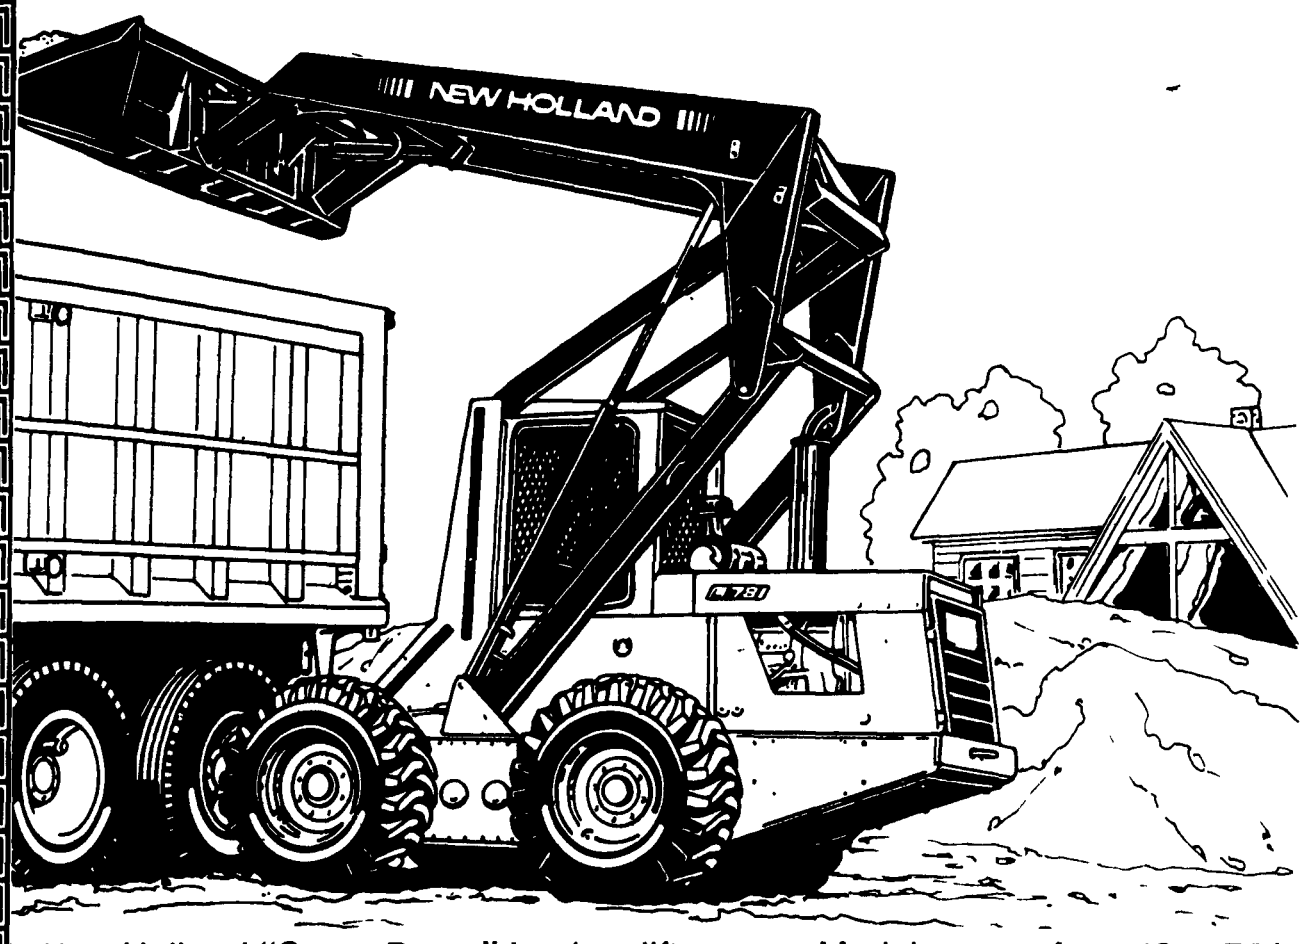
Reach for the sky!



Unmatched dump reach.

Get it done fast!

This loader does it all.

New Holland "Super Boom" loaders lift the payload forward as the boom rises. So you get more forward dump reach where you need it most. Extra dump reach means you can load the center of a tandem-axle dump truck.

Super Boom loaders also feature a longer wheelbase for increased stability and fast cycle times for more productivity.

Models range from 18 to 75 horsepower with SAE load ratings up to 2,050 pounds.

Ask us for a demonstration. You'll see how much better a skid-steer loader can be.

State FFA Team

they feel you are best qualified."

The three repeated stories from the three-day interviewing session. Tammy recalled, "We (applicants) were placed in a room with no windows. We never saw the light of day so we named it the "sweat box." Interviews were conducted as a group and individually.

Tammy said, "It wasn't too bad because after our individual interviews we always returned to the room with the other applicants. Then we bombarded each other with questions like, 'How did you do? What did you say?'"

On the second day, applicants spoke one at a time on the "Made for excellence" program that is conducted by the national FFA staff.

The team admits, "That was probably the toughest time of the session because we listened to all the applicants give their reasons, and each one wants to say something unique and not repeat what others have said."

The interviews sift out the entries and determine those best qualified for the job. By the end of the three day period the 29 original contestants dwindled to 19.

On the morning the officers were announced, Becky and Tammy sat side by side. Becky said, "When all the officers were announced except president and vice president, Tammy and I looked at other. Neither of us had been named. We were so nervous?"

Tammy admitted that they had surmised that they had a good chance since both had been recalled during the interview process and asked if they had a choice between president or vice president which would they pick. Both said they would be honored with either position. They were asked how it would affect their friendship if one were named president and the other vice president.

The women, who live within 30 minutes of each other and have become close friends through their involvement in FFA and the dairy princess program, were adament in that they would work well together.

Now that the uncertainy is over, both see themselves as a team, incomplete without the other.

July is the training ground for the newly appointed officers. The team will gather at Washington D.C. with all the state FFA presidents and the national FFA officers. In addition to training sessions, the group will tour legislative offices and be addressed by President Bush.

In August, the team is tentatively scheduled for Ag Progress Days where they will assist the Beef Council.

Then it's on to the fair season with the opening date at Elizabethtown.

Each team member has been assigned several counties for which they are responsible to address each FFA chapter during the year. Becky said, "My overall goal is to help advisors and school administrators understand the changes and amendments made in the FFA program. FFA is one of the largest and one of the best organizations yet so many people know little about it. Ag is such an important industry, but it needs community support."

Team members will relay that message in their chapter contacts. Becky said that she knows the importance of strong FFA programs. "Conrad Weiser, from where I graduated, has a strong program. The two teachers are terrific. They spend time with members individually and as a class. It means a lot to students."

According to Becky's calculations, the average officer needs to spend 80 to 100 days a year on state FFA duties. The state officers are responsible for planning the mid-winter convention designed for tenth and eleventh graders to meet with legislators and for PEAK, the leadership conference for new FFA members held at the Poconos.

They will attend the Made For Excellence Conference a personal development program for national and state officers.

Becky likes to inspire others to do their best and to forget disappointments. Becky said, "When I was in ninth grade I won the county, regional and section creed competition. I thought I would do well at the state level." Instead she came in fifth or sixth. That was a blow to her ego, but she said, "The best thing is to forget disappointments and keep trying. Competition is good."

College was a big adjustment for Becky who anticipated loving it. "Those first months I hated it," she said. "It was a big adjustment coming from a small town. You lose a feeling of who you are on a campus with 30,000 students that meet in classes of 4,500 students."

The second semester, Becky joined the Dairy Science Club and became acclimated to the huge campus. She said, "Now, I'm sorry I'm not going back in the fall, but I definitely will return the following year." She plans to switch her major from dairy science to ag economics and rural sociology with a minor in extension education.

Becky's summer schedule includes feeding the calves, helping with milking and field work on the family's 200-acre Holstein farm. She also works 30 hours as a playground leader. Although she no longer shows animals in 4-H and in FFA competition, Becky still likes working with her animals. She often plays the flute at her church. Her parents are Paul and Marilyn Sonnen.

What's next for Becky who has held top positions in the state dairy princess and FFA programs?

Becky isn't committing herself, but she is thinking about the possibility of a national FFA office. As far as a career, Becky said, "There are so many different jobs that sound exciting. I'd like to be a cattle classifier then I'd get to travel from state to state and meet farmers."

She'd also like to be a 4-H leader and work with kids.

Tammy Balthaser

Vice president Tammy is starting her FFA leadership role with a bang. On July 4, she became engaged to Jim Younker, a Sire Power technician from Fleetwood.

With a distant wedding date of October 12, 1991, Tammy plans to devote the intervening time to FFA duties.

The daughter of Wilson and LaVerne Balthaser, Tammy lives on the family's 450-acre farm with 82 cows on test, 40 swine, 20 sheep and a few geese.

If she is home, Tammy helps with the 5:30 a.m. and the 4:00 p.m. milking. "We use all Surge milkers with a pipeline in a stanchion barn," she said. Electronic beepers tell when each cows is finished milking.

Tammy, who worked parttime as a waitress, identifies herself as someone who likes variety and activity. As president of her senior high school class and many sports and 4-H activities, she reported that her FFA program was small but mighty. "Although we had a small class, our FFA has one of the highest citrus sales in the state.

She said that Hamburg FFA has gone through a three-year trial period after dwindling participation. Four years ago it had only 44 members in the entire program. This year it has 31 incoming freshman in addition to healthy participation in other grades.

She said, "Everyone pulled together and now the school has a strong program that has proved itself."

Tammy's brother, Randy, is president of the chapter and junior advisor for the county. As a sophomore, he is the youngest member to hold an FFA office in Berks County.

After a year of college at Penn State Reading campus, Tammy plans to take only one class this semester. In 1990 she plans to transfer to the main campus.

Tammy said, "The best thing I ever did was compete in extemporaneous speaking contests. I hated it and I always questioned, "Why do I put myself through this?" She placed second in the state and credits the experience as being invaluable to her dairy princess reign and to FFA leadership. "All public speaking helps with on-the-spot questioning," she emphasized, "and I encourage students to participate.

She is looking forward to visiting FFA chapters. "We want to increase membership. We really plan to push in the seventh and eighth grades."

Her dairy princess background already has prepared her for school appearances. She spoke to more than 4,500 students in 125 different classrooms. Although she finds it the most difficult to work with low-income students because they tend not to be as attentive, she finds it the most fulfilling. As an incentive, she gave the class who collected the most "REAL" seals an ice cream sundae party. A drawing was held for the "Miracle Cow" that had been stitched by Tammy's mother. "Miracle" was used during Tammy's presentations to tell kids about the miracle of a cow's daily milk production. "The boy who won it was so happy. It's his prized possession," Tammy reported.

Christine Davidson

Seventeen-year-old Christine Davidson lives with her parents, Robert and Brenda Davidson on their 95-acre Shippensburg farm. Last year, they sold their 70 Holsteins and now raise beef cattle and pigs. Christine plans a dual major in ag education and in ag business at Penn State, main campus.

She, like her Becky and Tammy, is an honor roll student and a former active 4-H'er.

Together, these three with the other FFA officers plan to work as a TEAM — Together Everyone Achieves More.

Christine Davidson, secretary of the state FFA, plans to juggle her school and FFA responsibilities when she attends Penn State in the fall.

In her sparetime, Tammy Sue Balthaser finds time to romp with her dog, Stetson.

For Christine, hay making offers her a chance to enjoy the world she loves.

Although the new state FFA vice president is also a state dairy princess alternate, she is not limited to caring for bovine creatures; she also raises sheep, pigs, geese and dogs.

Lancaster County Demonstration

Twenty-eight Lancaster County 4-H'ers tried their hand at public speaking earlier this week in the 4-H Demonstration and Public Speaking contests. Half of them went on to participate in regional competition on Thursday night.

In the public speaking competition, Kandi Mullen, the 12-year-old daughter of James and Elaine Mullen of Peach Bottom, won the contest with a speech on the benefits of 4-H. She then went on to be a blue-ribbon winner in the junior demonstration speeches with a topic on strawberries.

Coming in second with her speech on leadership was 12-year-old Tonya Dawson of Quarryville. Dawson is the daughter of Wayne and Mae Dawson. Eric Wenger, 12, took third, but was only a half a point out of second place. Wenger, the son of Alma and Nelson Wenger of Manheim spoke on seeing eye puppies.

In the junior demonstration contest, Elizabeth Smith won a blue ribbon with her presentation on how to make a stick puppet. Smith is the 11-year-old daughter of Tom and Dale Smith of Denver. Also receiving a blue ribbon was Lori Harnish, the 13-year-old daughter of Nancy and Rod Harnish of Lititz. She spoke on Western fashions.

The only recipient of a blue ribbon in the senior demonstration competition was 14-year-old Brian McLaughlin. The son of Vonnie and Ralph McLaughlin of Quarryville, the 4-H'er demonstrated how to assemble an archery bow.

Those 4-H'ers going on the regional competition will compete with other 4-H'ers in Dauphin, Franklin, York, Cumberland, Lebanon, and Adams counties.

Noel Schieb of Phoenixville, is in her ninth year in 4-H sewing. She modeled a lined knit jacket and lined, straight skirt plaid skirt. The daughter of Clyde and Alda Schieb was named a Keystone winner as outstanding 4-H'er and a state winner in the poster contest.

Kristen Yarnall stitched a tiered party dress in mint green with attached bow. The four-year sewing club member is the daughter of Paul and Donna Yarnall, Coatesville.

Karen Dunlap of Honey Brook is in her sixth year of sewing and made a dress that appeared to be a two-piece outfit. It featured a black checkered skirt with a white bodice. Her parents are Dave and Jane Dunlap.

Brooke Yorgy modeled a pink satin gown with bows. She is the daughter of Suzanne and Henry Yorgy of Spring City.

Alternate senior winner was Diane Lynn with a skirt, blouse and fully lined trench coat. She is the daughter of Dale and Shirley Lynn, Spring City.

Junior winners included Christy Cunningham, Phoenixville; Leah Agier, Honey Brook; and Ellen Herr, Parkesburg. Alternate junior winner was Amy Hewith.

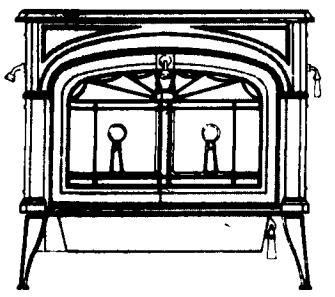
A GREAT PERFORMANCE DESERVES AN ENCORE.



Vermont Castings has revolutionized the art of woodburning. Again. They did it the first time with the Defiant, a handsome, efficient woodstove with doors that opened for a view of the fire.

They've done it again with the Defiant Encore. With a strikingly beautiful design that will enhance any decor, a large, clear glass area for fire viewing, a super convenient ash removal system, and an incredibly clean-burning combustion system, the Encore is a tough act to follow.

Protective Clothing For Pesticide Spraying

If you, or someone in your family uses pesticides, you need to understand about the safety procedures and protective clothing that can be used to minimize pesticide exposure. In general, the more thoroughly the body is covered, the less area exposed directly to pesticides, and the more the health hazards associated with pesticides use are reduced.

Establishing the type of exposure that will result from the work activity helps in determining what types of protective clothing need to be worn. Studies have shown that different parts of the body absorb varying amounts of pesticides. Some studies have found the greatest absorption to occur in the scrotum, with approximately 100 percent of the applied dose being absorbed. The head and neck area absorbed between 32 to 36 percent, the ear canal absorbed about 47 percent, while the arms and hands absorbed less, approximately 9 percent.

High temperatures and moisture, which can occur when clothing is wet with perspiration or comes in contact with wet plants or equipment, can increase absorption. Start out with clothes that are clean, dry and free of holes.

Select clothing made of tightly woven material or, as an alternative, durable disposable nonwoven coveralls. Work clothing that is 100 percent cotton is a better choice than synthetic fibers of equal weight because cotton is more absorbent. Liquid pesticides tend to be absorbed by the fibers rather than passing through the fabric to the skin.

Wearing layers of clothing also will help reduce the amount of pesticide that reaches the skin. Basic clothing should include undergarments, coveralls or a long sleeved shirt and pants, gloves, boots and a hat. Waterproof and disposable coveralls also are available.

How clothes are worn can influence the degree of protection they provide. Waterproof gloves should reach at least halfway to the elbows, and waterproof boots should reach halfway to the knees. Leaving shirt sleeves outside of gloves and pant legs outside of boots usually is recommended to prevent the movement of pesticides into gloves or boots should a spill occur. Shirts should be tucked into pants.

Special care should be taken to protect the scalp, ear canal and forehead because of their relatively high absorption levels. A wide brimmed, waterproof hat with a plastic sweatband will protect these areas of the body. A waterproof raincoat or apron will provide added protection when mixing, loading or applying pesticides.

Come On A Sundae Safari At The Baltimore Zoo

TOWSON, Md. — Imagine yourself on safari, crossing a swinging bridge, hopping across teaming waters on lily pads, exploring animal inhabited caves. You've sighted leopards, crocodiles, tigers, elephants and giraffes, when suddenly the thing you're hunting comes into view. There, he's straight ahead, not noticing as you quietly approach. At last! It's the ice cream man. You make your move, "Chocolate Macadamian, please," and get your reward — free ice cream!

All this can happen to you if you come to "Sundae Safari" at the Baltimore Zoo on Sunday, July 16 from 11:30 to 2:30. It's an ice cream celebration sponsored by the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association, with proceeds benefiting the Children's Zoo.

When you come to "Sundae Safari" you'll receive a Safari Map and coupons for free ice cream treats from some of your favorite ice cream makers, like Bassett's, Ben & Jerry's, Breyers, Edy's, Friendly's, Haagen-Dazs, Jack & Jill, and Shenandoah's Pride. To cash in the coupons you must first track down answers to easy questions about certain animal exhibits and find the location of the ice cream vendors on the Safari Map. If you'd prefer, the coupons may be traded in for retail discount coupons to use later.

In addition to scoops and scoops of ice cream there will be free balloons, educational exhibits, music and clowns.

The first 50 children to complete the Safari will receive a free pair of binoculars. The first 25 adults to finish will receive a free Sundae Safari T-shirt.

The Baltimore Zoo is located in Druid Hill Park. From the Jones Fall Expressway (I-83), take Exit 7 West to Druid Park Lake Drive and follow the signs to the Zoo. Plenty of free parking is available adjacent to the Zoo. Shuttles will be running to the Zoo from in front of the National Aquarium at the Inner Harbor. Shuttle fare is 25 cents.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Summer salads are made microwave-quick.

Cook potatoes for your favorite potato salad as you would for micro-baked potatoes. Cook vegetables, such as broccoli or carrots, just until they turn bright-colored. A few minutes for a large amount or about 15 to 30 seconds per cupful is all it takes. Vegetables will absorb more flavor from dressing and be easier to eat.

Cook bacon for a crunchy garnish or make your own crisp croutons. Cook bacon on paper towels, or, when drippings are called for, use a microwave-safe rack. In either case, cover bacon with a paper towel to prevent spattering. Microwave on High 30 to 60 seconds per slice, depending on thickness and leanness of bacon. (Thin and lean bacon will cook fastest.)

For croutons, remove crusts from bread and cut bread in small cubes. Toss with melted butter or olive oil in a microwave-safe flat dish; stir in seasonings, such as minced fresh garlic, seasoned salt, or dried herbs, and bread cubes, stirring to coat. Microwave on High until bread is almost dry. For 4 slices of bread, use about ¼ cup butter or oil and microwave 3 to 4 minutes, stirring several times.

Toast coconut to add interest to fruit salads. Spread coconut in a microwave-safe flat dish. For 1 cup shredded or flaked coconut, microwave on High about 3 to 4 minutes or until coconut starts to turn golden brown. Stir several times and watch closely towards end of time to prevent coconut from burning.

Cook chicken or heat cooked meat for a main dish salad. Uncooked chicken pieces should be tightly covered and microwaved on High for about 5 to 7 minutes per pound. Rearrange pieces halfway through cooking and let stand covered for 5 to 10 minutes before checking to see that no pinkness remains. One pound of bone-in chicken breast equals 2 cups diced chicken; other parts yield less. Cooked meat only needs a minute or two of heating in a covered container.

Cook salad dressing that needs heating. For wilted spinach or lettuce salads, greens can be prepared ahead in a serving bowl and kept waiting in your refrigerator. Dressing ingredients can be mixed in a microwave-safe measure and kept ready in your refrigerator, too. Right before serving, microwave dressing, uncovered, on High, allowing 2 to 3 minutes per cup of dressing. Quickly pour over greens and toss. Cooked salad dressing, like old-fashioned celery seed dressing for cole slaw or thick lemony fruit salad dressing, is cooked in minutes without constant stirring or any worry of scorching.

Today's recipes substitute hassle-free microwave cooking steps for some inconvenient conventional cooking steps.

Tossed Ham Salad With Hot Peanut Dressing is a trendy new main-dish salad with a Thai flavor. The zippy peanut sauce accents crisp lettuce and flavorful ham. Microwave the already-cooked ham strips for about a minute or until hot. Just cover the ham strips with waxed paper or a loose-fitting lid and microwave on High. In a skillet, you'd need to add a little fat and stir constantly to heat — and not burn — the ham. Microwave the peanut sauce until hot. Again, on the range top, you'd need to stir it and watch carefully.

Tangy Picnic Fruit Salad is an old-fashioned fruit salad that makes a large batch. It's a natural to pack for a large group picnic or take to a potluck dinner. Cooking time is 5 to 7 minutes. Total preparation time is 15 to 20 minutes — depending on how fast you work at cutting up fresh fruit.

Tossed Ham Salad With Hot Peanut Dressing

1 medium cucumber, seeded and thinly sliced
¼ red onion, thinly sliced
12 cups torn leaf lettuce, Boston lettuce, Romaine, and/or curly endive
¼ cup peanut butter
3 tablespoons fresh lime juice
1 tablespoon salad oil
1 tablespoon low-sodium soy sauce
1 tablespoon sugar
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
Hot pepper sauce
¼ pound boneless lean ham

Toss cucumber, red onion, and greens together in large serving bowl; set aside.

Combine peanut butter, lime juice, salad oil, soy sauce, sugar, garlic and ginger in a microwave-safe 2-cup measure. (Or combine in a blender or food processor; blend well and pour into microwave-safe 2-cup measure.) Add hot pepper sauce to taste. Set aside.

Cut ham into thin strips; place in a microwave-safe bowl and cover with waxed paper. Microwave (High) 1 to 1½ minutes or until warm; toss with vegetables. Microwave dressing, uncovered, on High 1 to 1½ minutes or until hot, stirring once. Toss with vegetables and ham. Serve immediately. Makes 6 main-dish servings.

Hint: Thickness of dressing will vary depending on kind of peanut butter used. Dressing should be thicker than regular bottled salad dressing. But if it's too thick, thin with water.

Each serving: 182 calories, 17g protein, 13g fat, 9g carbohydrate, 661mg sodium, 24mg cholesterol.

Tangy Fruit Picnic Salad

1 box (7 ounces) tiny macaroni rings
1 can (20 ounces) pineapple tidbits in juice
1 can (16 ounces) mandarin oranges
1 package (3 ounces) lemon pudding and pie filling mix (not instant)
1 package (3¼ ounces) tapioca pudding mix
4-6 cups fresh fruit, cut in small pieces*

Fill microwave-safe 2-quart measure half full of water. Microwave (High) 5 to 8 minutes or until boiling. Quickly stir in macaroni rings. Microwave (High), uncovered, 4 to 6 minutes or until rings are cooked, but not soft. Drain in colander; rinse with cold water and let stand in colander.

Drain juice from pineapple and mandarin oranges into same measure; reserve fruit. Add water to juice to make 3 cups. Stir in pudding mixes until smooth. Microwave (High) 6 to 7 minutes, stirring after each 2 minutes, or until boiling and thick. Cook 15 to 30 minutes. Gently stir in macaroni rings, drained fruit and fresh fruit. Chill before serving. Makes 20 to 24 servings.

Each serving — 1/20th of recipe: 85 calories, 1g protein, 0 fat, 21g carbohydrate 51mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

* Use unpeeled fresh peaches, apples, grapes or other in-season fruits. If using sliced bananas, add right before serving.

Hint: After chilling, if dressing is too thick for your taste, add water (or fruit juice) and stir gently until salad is thickness you prefer.

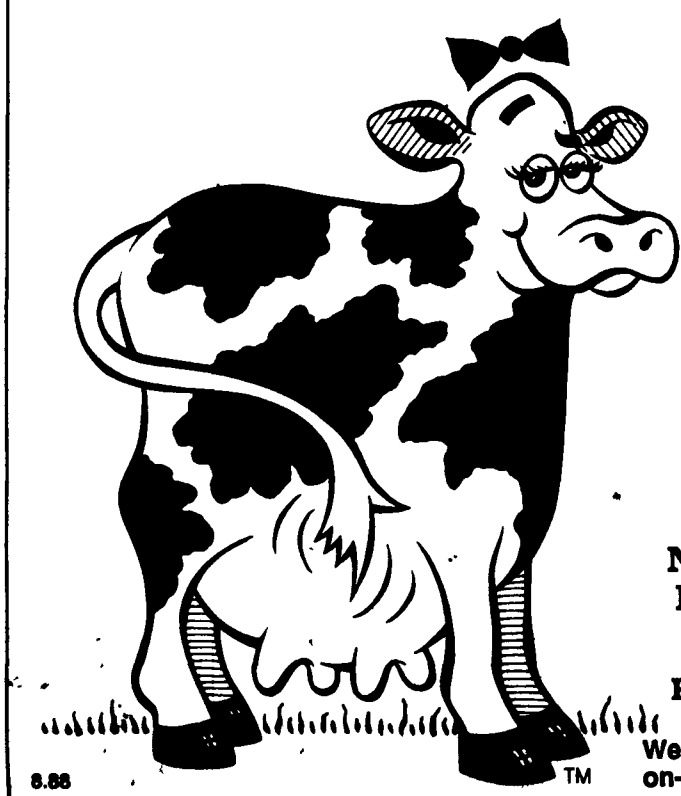
No small change when ordinary cows become SURPASS™ cows



When you feed your cows improved Surpass™ liquid supplement, there's potential for more than nickel and dime profit increases.

With the unique combination of natural, high bypass protein and NPN, Surpass helps your cows increase their potential for more milk production.

The higher nutrient density of Surpass also provides equal nutrition to dry supplements but in far less volume. That means your cows have room for more fiber. More fiber means increased potential for more butterfat and higher milk premiums.

More milk, more butterfat and in many instances lower cost than comparable dry supplements—all of that means a better dollar return on your feed investment with Surpass.

For details, ask for the new 12-page booklet, "See the Difference..." and learn how easy and profitable it can be to change ordinary cows into SURPASS cows.

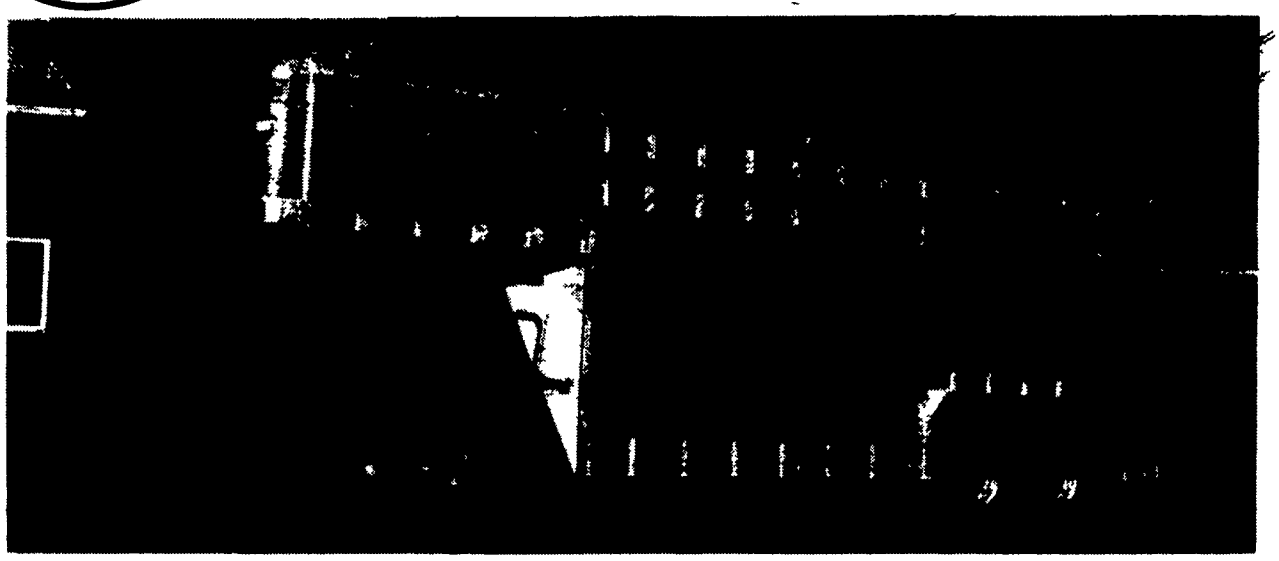
ALUMINUM GOOSENECK TRAILERS



20' Gooseneck Trailer

A versatile, lightweight, Eby aluminum stock trailer is built to provide years of maintenance free service. An Eby trailer is custom built to fit your individual hauling needs - No mass production! We use only quality components and strong alloy aluminum to manufacture what may be the last trailer you'll ever buy.

- LIGHTWEIGHT - Eby stock trailers are 25-35% lighter than comparable steel trailers. Less weight means better fuel mileage or increased payload.
- MAINTENANCE- Eby aluminum trailers won't rust. Welding and painting can cost you dollars in down time and repairs.
- DURABILITY - Eby trailers are built tough. Quality components and 6061 alloy aluminum provide the ruggedness required in a livestock trailer.

Montgomery County Fair

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.)— There's fun for the entire family at the 1989 Montgomery County 4-H Fair, August 17-19. The fair is open to the public from 6-9:30 p.m. on Thursday, August 17; 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Friday, August 18; and from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 19. Of special interest to children of all ages on Friday is the Fun Olympics at 3:00 p.m. Youngsters will be able to participate in all types of competitive and non-competitive games, such as the parachute and relay races. Prizes will be awarded to everyone. The event is free.

On Saturday, kids are invited to participate in two special events: the Horseless Horse Show at noon and the Pet Show at 1:15. At the Horseless Horse Show kids pretend that they are a horse from the waist down and a rider from the waist up. They compete in many different events, much as in a real horse show. Kids entering the Pet Show may bring one of their pets and compete in classes such as the largest or smallest animal, most unusual, looks most like owner, best trick, and animal dress-up (if it's not too hot). There is a $.50 entry fee per animal. The Horseless Horse Show is free.

Other family events include a performance by the Daisy Jug Band, a flea market, and game booths. The game booths are open from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on Thursday, 2:00 to 9:00 on Friday, and from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Saturday. The flea market will be open on Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

For additional information or a fair schedule, call 489-4315.

Conodoquinet Sheep

The Conodoguinet Sheep Club held a meeting June 21 at the home of Robby, Mike and Bobbie Jo Keiter. We started the meeting with all the members hand clipping lambs. Mr. Holtry sheared a lamb's belly and demonstrated how to smooth the sides out to make the lamb look slimmer. We then had our business meeting.

Mr. Holtry read the Club a letter from the Colgates Youth for America Campaign. The Club won a case of toothpaste for entering the contest. Jones handed each member a pamphlet and a tube of toothpaste. Mr. Holtry then handed out Carlisle fair books and entry forms. A committee was formed to make an exibit for the fairs and for expo. The members consisted of Amy Jones, Stacy Suffel, Diane Myers, Sandy Anderson, and Michelle & Mike Cornman.

After the meeting the members picked up 4-H stationary and sample letters to write letters to their buyers for the 1989 roundup.

York County Public Speaking

On June 26, 20 4-H members participated in the York County 4-H Presentation and Public Speaking Contest. The members were judged on their public speech or presentation in hopes of doing well enough to represent the county at the Regional 4-H Speakout Night on July 13 at the Cumberland Valley High School.

The Junior division 4-H members, who presented a 5-7 minute presentation demonstrating knowledge or skills they learned through their 4-H projects, included: Brett Frey, Wellsville; Rachael and Jessica Price, Dover; Dixie Doll, Glen Rock; Lisa and Cindy Dehoff, Glen Rock; Ben Leese, Spring Grove; Amy Trowbridge, Spring Grove, Philip Baer, Glen Rock; Jay Rishel, Seven Valleys; Vanessa Debnam, Hanover; Hannah Stauffer, Dillsburg; and Robert Morris of Glen Rock. Jason Baer of Glen Rock gave a 3-5 minute public speech entitled, "What 4-H has done for me."

In the Senior division, there were 4 public speeches lasting 5-7 minutes dealing with some aspect of 4-H. Participants included Robin and Cathy Shive, Seven Valleys; Gail Rishel, Seven Valleys; and Wendy Debnam, Hanover. Presentation participants included Julie Raines, Wellsville and Tanya Barr, Fawn Grove.

Judges for the contest were Nancy Livingston, Dover; Sue Eisenhart, Thomasville; Lorraine Miller, Dover; Nona Brown, Loganville; Linda Spahr, Lewisberry; and Emilie Welsh, East Berlin. The 4-H program appreciates their time and talents in helping the youth develop their public speaking skills.

A new area of competition piloted this year was Impromptu Speeches. There were 7 youth who participated in this new division. Becky Hall, 4-H Program Assistant, judged this category.

The York County 4-H Presentation and Public Speaking contest is supported by funds from Hamilton Bank. The donated funds are used to give each youth an allottment to help cover expenses of giving a presentation and as recognition for a job well done.

Every participant received a blue ribbon, which means they received at least 90 out of 100 points when judged. This also means they are eligible to compete at the Regional event. Representing York County at the regional competition will be Dixie Doll, Vanessa Debnam, Cindy Dehoff, Amy Trowbridge, Lisa Dehoff, Jay Rishel, Hannah Stauffer, Gail Rishel, Rachael Price, Ben Leese, Wendy Debnam, Julie Raines, Gail Rishel, and Cathy Shive.

Franklin County Seeing Eye Puppy

The May meeting of the Franklin County 4-H Seeing Eye Puppy Club was called to order by President Robin Ruiz.

Chris Dickinson and Connie Schofield, our 4-H Representatives from Seeing Eye, were at this meeting. They gave us some training tips and praised our training session.

The club went to Armed Forces Day at Letterkenny on May 20. Four 4-H'ers and their puppies were present. They rode the trucks and went through the buildings. They were given a plaque for setting up a display table.

A dog wash is planned for July 15 from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Antreim Humane Society. The 4-H'ers will wash dogs, sponge them with flea dip, clip toenails, and groom dogs in the afternoon.

The last weekend in June was Puppy Camp at French Creek State Park near Lancaster. The club sent two teams for the Puppy Bowl held Saturday afternoon. The Puppy Bowl is a competition in which 4-H'ers study materials and then are quizzed on it. In the past, Franklin County has placed third.

Kelly Boyd, Luke Sanders, Rodney Garling, and Chris Rchards, four 4-H'ers from Franklin County, also have interviews to see if they are able to go to 4-H National Congress in Chicago in December. They were selected for the interview from their blue form, which is a record of all they previously completed in 4-H. They must have also raised two puppies for the Seeing Eye.

Shepherds

The May meeting of the 4-H Shepherds was the weigh-in and ear-tagging at co-leader Donna Boyd's barn. Thirty-one lambs were weighed. The total amount of weight was 1,862 pounds. The average weight was 60 pounds.

The club has weigh-in so the leaders can determine the weight gain from May to Round-Up in September.

Anyone interested in buying a 4-H market lamb can contact Donna Boyd at 264-9192 or Elisabeth Keener at 263-1881.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Often when people first meet Allen and I they will say, "Are you still farming?" I suppose they think that we look too old to be active farmers.

My husband is in his early seventies and often tells me he is tired at the end of the day. But he gets up at 5:30 a.m. and milks some 60 cows morning and evening with help from our son, Philip. He carries heavy five gallon buckets of milk and water to eight calves in hutches in a field. He unloads hay and drives the tractor over bumpy terrain. He hauls cows and calves to market and sometimes runs the rototiller in my garden when the weeds get ahead of me. And, then he wonders why he is tired!

The other Saturday we took a day away from the farm but it was not what he would call a vacation. We left home in the morning and did not get to bed that night until 2 a.m. Before you know it it was time to get up again.

We went to Bowers, Delaware for some deep-sea fishing. His 1969 Dodge made the trip just fine except for some traffic jams. It took so long to arrive that we couldn't make a lunch stop. Maybe this was a good thing as I was worried that I'd get seasick--but I didn't as the bay was relatively calm.

Some of the twenty people in our group caught no fish but somehow Allen and I managed to catch our first fish simultaneously. They were big blue fish and we were told they could bite off a fingertip. So the mate on the boat insisted on removing them from the hooks. I enjoyed seeing him run from one end of the boat to the other end as folks yelled, "fish." Sea gulls congregated over the areas where schools of fish were located and helped us find them.

We had not been deep-sea fishing for years and we enjoyed the modern boat with a powerful motor that took us 20 miles out into the Delaware Bay. It was a very long day.

HAPPENINGS

Kennard Dale

The FFA chapter of Kennard-Dale High School competed with the best during FFA Activities Week and came out with honors. Seven Kennard-Dale students were awarded plaques at the annual FFA week, June 13-15, 1989, at Pennsylvania State University.

Mark Creacraft, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Herring, of Fawn Grove, placed eighth out of 48 to be presented with a silver in the agricultural mechanics contest. The team of John Hyatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hyatt of Fawn Grove, and Mike McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDowell of New Park, worked together to place third out of 15 with a silver plaque in the small gasoline engines contest. Greg Polhemus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Polhemus of Stewartstown, and Mark Hushon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Hushon of Delta, were not far behind when they placed seventh with a honorable mention. John Hyatt placed fourth for a silver and Mike McDowell placed eighth for honorable mention in the individual small gasoline engines contest. In the agricultural salesmanship contest, Paul Linkous III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Linkous, Jr., of Delta, attained ninth place along with a bronze plaque in a field of 29.

Tina Hedrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtus Hedrick of Delta, represented York County as a delegate on the nominating committee which decided on the incoming officers of the FFA State Association. She along with other delegates received a gold certificate and a state leadership pin for outstanding work.

The other students who participated in competitive contests were Chris Nelson, forestry; Kim Griffith, pleasure horse; Dwight Hedrick, land judging; and Jason Birley, agricultural mechanics. These freshmen now have experience on their side if they return to Penn State next year.

The group was accompanied by the Kennard-Dale FFA advisors Ralph Travis and David Allen. Travis commented, "I am pleased that over half of my students came home with an award in his/her event." The female members were chaperoned by Jane Travis.

Young adults from across Pennsylvania competed against each other in the many events during the week. Those who placed in the top bracket will either represent the state at the National Convention in Kansas City, Mo., in November or at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass., in September.

Larry Redding, FFA State Advisor, complimented the entire group of more than 1,300 FFA members on their excellent participation and cooperation throughout the entire week. He also stated that this quality group was an admirable example for future participants.

Mifflinburg

The Northeastern Farm Credit Service Recordkeeping Award was presented to Barry E. Spangler, right, of Mifflinburg. Presenting the award to the Mifflingburg FFA chapter member was Clifford Valentine of the Lewisburg Farm Credit office.

Twin Valley

WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

Check Your Silo Now For Rotten Staves. If You Have Been Using Your Silo For 10 To 15 Years For Either Corn Silage Or Haylage, It Is Time To SHOTCRETE.

If you have a 15 year old silo.. get it fixed or insure it better! But don't wait until the last minute to have it repaired because we may not be able to fix it if you wait too long.
REMEMBER your silo will not fall over when it's empty - it will fall over when it's full. It cannot stand on deteriorated concrete...

Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete

S & S Silo Service Has Experience
Over 500 Silos Have Been Relined With Shotcrete

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

ARE YOU WASTING HARD EARNED DOLLARS ON INEFFECTIVE FLY CONROL?
Flies spread disease and cut production, so the fly control you are using could be costing you more than you think.
GET 80-95% CONTROL with the AUTO-MIST Automatic Insect Control System and MISTAFLY Natural Pyrethrum Insecticide. Automist and Mistafly can give you an effective insect control program, helping you lower disease potential and eliminate production losses due to flies.

Jack Dempsey Daughter Champ At Junior National Charolais Show

COLLEGE STATION, TX — The 14th Junior National Charolais Heifer Show was held on June 19. American-International Junior Charolais Association (AIJCA) members from across the United States exhibited 81 head of registered Charolais.

Dr. Miles McKee of Manhattan, Kan., was the judge for the show, and he chose an entry from California as the grand champion female. DM Cream Puff 702, exhibited by Christy Bush of San Juan Bautista, Calif., won the prestigious title. This September 1987 daughter of Roxy's Jack Dempsey 63R had a show day weight of 1,460 pounds and measured 58 inches at the hip. The heifer posted a 2.26 pound weight per day of age.

The reserve grand champion slot was filled by a cow/calf pair led out by Sharla Adams of Madisonville, Texas. SCC Holly 710 is a May 1987 daughter of RER Citation L253 Polled, and her heifer calf, SCC Molly 910, is a May 5, 1989, daughter of SCC Magic 617. The cow had a show day weight of 1,560 pounds, and her hip height was 59¾ inches.

Christine Simmons of Williamston, Mich., claimed the champion bred and owned title with Omega Blossom 8006 X ET. Weighing 1,335 pounds on show day, the January 10, 1988, daughter of BR-MF Krugerrand T752 measured 58¾ inches at the hip and gained a weight per day of age of 2.54 pounds.

Paul Miller of Spring Grove, Pa., captured the reserve champion bred and owned title with MCC Joyeaux ET 8840. This May 15, 1988, daughter of Mr Dempseys Rocket 116 weighed 1,215 pounds on show day, measured 55¾ inches at the hip and gained a weight per day of age of 3.06 pounds.

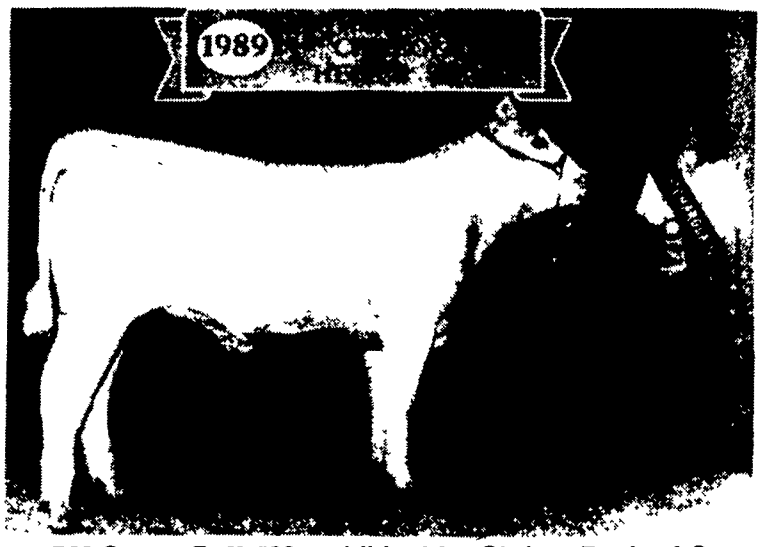
The 10 class-winning heifers were exhibited by AIJCA members from six states. Class one (heifers calves after October 1, 1988) was won by CCM Sabrina 817P exhibited by Clifford Mitchell of Koshkonong, Mo. MCC GI GI ET 8852 exhibited by Milller was the class two winner (heifers calved between September 1 and September 30, 1988). The class three winner (heifers born between July 1 and August 1, 1988) was WC Miss Nancy 8142 ET exhibited by Steve Dewey of Cimarron, Kan. MCC Joyeaux ET 8840 exhibited by Miller won class four (heifers calves between May 14 and June 30, 1988).

Class five (heifers born between May 1 and May 9, 1988) was won by DOR Cindarella 3007 exhibited by Johnny Oney of Marshall, Texas. SLC Fantasy 025, exhibited by Waylon Miller of Dallas, Texas, was the class six winner (heifers born between March 1 and April 30, 1988). Class seven (heifers calved from January 1 to February 29, 1988) was won by Omega Blossom 806 X ET exhibited by Simmons. DM Cream Puff 70, exhibited by Bush, was the class eight winner. SCC Holly 710, and her calf, SCC Molly 910, exhibited by Adams were the winners of the cow/calf class.

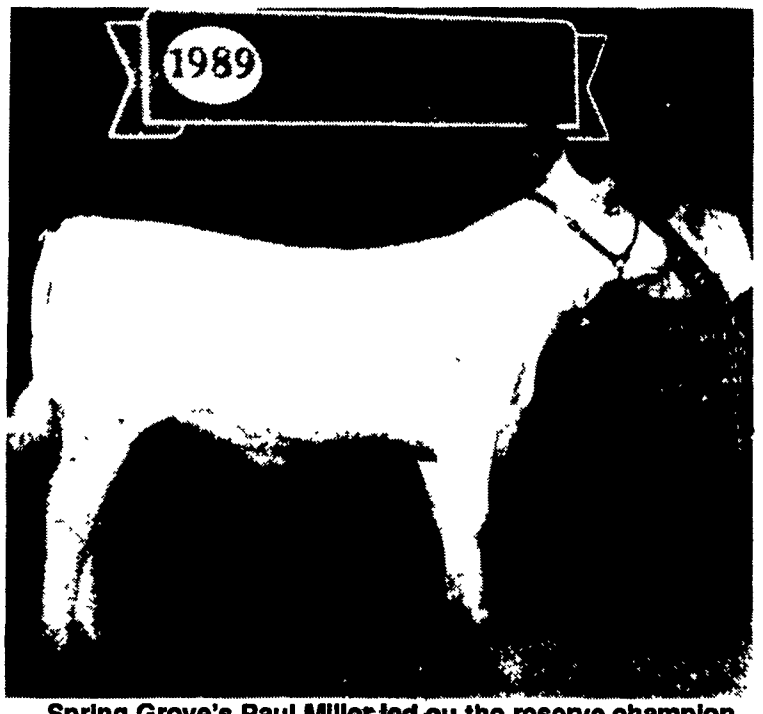
Tough competition marked this year's showmanship contests. In the senior division, Walyon Miller of Dallas, Texas, was named champion showman, and Meghan Casey of Fort Worth, Texas, was chosen as reserve champion. In the junior division, Gary Neill of Van Alstyne, Texas, claimed the champion showman title, and Mark Kelley of Mabank, Texas, was named the reserve champion.

Five special awards were given at the Junior National. A Texas group captured first place in the state group of heifers competition. Best state display honors were awarded to the Missouri Junior Charolais Association. Andrea Clemons of Sparta, Tenn., was selected as Junior Herdsman of the Year. The state exhibiting the greatest number of heifers was Texas, and Christy Bush of San Juan Bautista, Calif., was given the honor for traveling the greatest distance to participate.

This year's show was dedicated to Charlie and Jean Smith, owners of C-J Ranch in Leona, Texas. The Smiths were chosen as the show honorees not only because they enthusiastically promote the Charolais breed but also the AIJCA.



DM Cream Puff 702, exhibited by Christy Bush of San Juan Bautista, Calif., was named the grand champion female of the 14th Junior National Charolais Heifer Show last month in Texas.



Spring Grove's Paul Miller led ou the reserve champion bred-and-owned heifer, MCC Joyeaux ET 8840. The May 1988 daughter of Mr Dempseys Rocket 116 featured a weight gain of 3.06 pounds per day of age.

Ewe, Performance-Tested Ram Sale Planned

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Meat Animal Evaluation Center wishes to announce plans are being laid for PA's 11th Performance Tested Ram Lamb and Invitational Ewe sale scheduled for Saturday, August 5, at 1:00 p.m. in the Ag Arena complex adjacent to the MAEC, 651 Fox Hollow Road, State College, PA 16803.

There will be a consignment of top ram lambs, both spring and fall born. There are 65 rams currently on test and 80-100 ewes are expected to be consigned by these progressive, performance-minded breeders.

Our consignment of rams consists of one Columbia, 20 Dorsets (five of which are fall born rams), 13 Hampshires (one fall born), one Montadale, seven Polypays (one fall born), one Shropshire and 22 Suffolks (two fall born).

The 65 rams on test have maintained a 1.01 pounds per day average daily gain through 56 days.

After completion of the 84-day testing period, the rams will be evaluated for breeding soundness, structural correctness, correctness of mouth and scanned ultrasonically to determine fat thickness and loin eye area. There will be an index calculated on each ram based on average daily gain on test, weight per day of age and fat thickness. After all of the evaluations and the indexes are calculated, approximately the top 75 percent will be selected for the performance tested sale.

For further information or to request a sale catalog contact Glenn Eberly, Director of the Meat Animal Evaluation Center, 651 Fox Hollow Road, State College, PA 16803; 814/238-2527.

What farmers are saying about Case IH MAGNUM tractors.

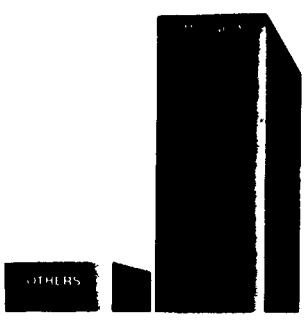
Recently, several hundred farmers were invited to test MAGNUM tractors on their own farms. After they had used the tractors an average of 36 hours, they were asked to compare the engine, transmission, cab, hydraulics and serviceability to their current tractors.

MAGNUM won overwhelmingly in every category of comparison.

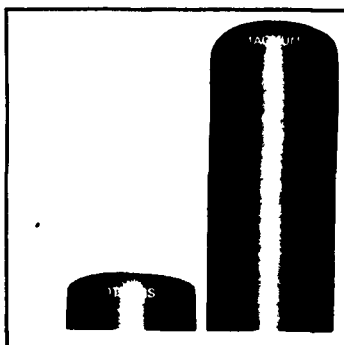
The users reported: 85.3% said that the engine powered its way to the top; 91.0% said the MAGNUM cab was a comfortable winner; and 85.7% judged the power-shift transmission to be smoothly superior.

Over-all MAGNUM was preferred by a whopping 84.9% over a strong field that included John Deere, Ford, White and Deutz-Allis models.

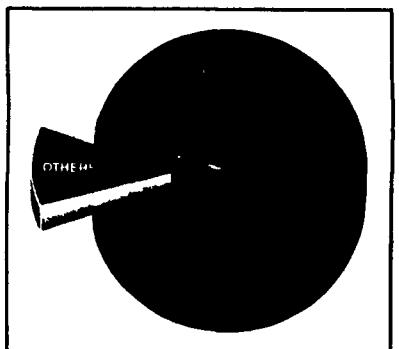
How does MAGNUM compare with your tractor? You'll never know until you take your own test drive. Ask your Case IH dealer for a demonstration on your farm.



85.3% of farmers tested rated MAGNUM engine lugging ability, fuel economy and over-all performance better than their tractor.



91.0% judged the MAGNUM cab superior in visibility, quietness, comfort and convenience to their current 100+ hp tractor.



85 7% said the MAGNUM transmission was best in ease of speed selection, smooth shifting and in proper speeds for the job.

Penn State Research Attacks Flies On Cattle

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)— From spring through early fall, cattle suffer from flies. Beef cattle gain weight more slowly and dairy cattle produce less milk than usual. Cattle lose grazing efficiency and contract diseases like pink eye from fly infestations. But in recent years Penn State researchers have tested a new fly prevention technique, a slow-release pill to be given to cattle two weeks before fly season begins.

This technique already has proven effective in beef cattle herds. Penn State studies show up to a 90 percent fly population decrease with use of the slow-release pills, used in conjunction with traditional methods.

Traditional methods for fighting flies include using herd insecticide-impregnated ear tags, back rubbers or dust bags and periodic fogging throughout the summer.

"These boluses, or pills, are now commercially available. They contain chemicals and larvicides that are gradually released through the cow's feces all summer long. These chemical compounds in the feces break the life cycle of the fly by keeping them from reaching maturity," says Dr. Lowell L. Wilson, professor of animal science at Penn State.

Wilson recommends that all cattle over 300 pounds should be given the bolus and stresses that the method works best when all area farmers use the slow-release bolus, keeping the total fly population in control.

"Fly control restores the comfort and performance not only of the herd but also of the producers. Grazing efficiency improves markedly as well," Wilson added.

Similar products are available commercially for addition to mineral mixtures, which are effective in both block and loose form.

This study was conducted in part at Penn State's Haller Beef and Sheep Forage Farm near University Park. Also involved in the research were Peter J. LeVan, research assistant, and Richard F. Todd, research aide in Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science.

Cattle Of The Year

la Bell 348, was bred Cardinal Farms of Lafayette, Colo., and is owned by Willard Walker of Springdale, Ark.

In the initial 1987-'88 AICA show dam of the year roll, Talia placed eighth. She also was the second place 1984-'85 show female of the year. This year Talia's progeny accumulated 338 points in two Class B ROE shows, five Class A ROE shows, and the 20th National show. Of the point total, 304 points were earned at the A and National show level. Talia's point total surpasses that of the first show dam of the year. Talia will qualify as an AICA dam of excellence.

Talia's 1988-'89 show season was highlighted with two daughters earning the first- and second-place positions in the show female of the year competition. Perfections Tally finished first and Perfection's 5-Star ET placed second. Other progeny earning points for Talia are Perfection's Krystle ET, Perfection's Jade ET, Perfection's Kate ET, BVF Wendy, Mr Dempseys Rocket 116, and Perfection's Knight ET.

PDA Accepting Swine Sire Progeny Test Nominations

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Meat Animal Evaluation Center will be accepting nominations for the fall swine sire progeny test from July 15 through August 31. Test pigs must have been born on or after July 15. A sire-progeny group consists of at least six pigs from four or more sows, by one sire. Not more than two of the dams may be full sisters or dam-daughter combinations. Not more than three pigs from one sow may be nominated. Any combination of barrows and gilts may be included, and all published performance data will be adjusted to barrow equivalents. Performance evaluations will be based on rate of gain, feed efficiency and days to reach 220 pounds. Feet and legs will be scored for soundness. Carcasses will also be evaluated.

To request more information about this program, contact Glenn Eberly, Meat Animal Evaluation Center, 651 Fox Hollow Road, State College, PA 16803; 814/238-2527.

Pasture Feeding Recommended For Young Calves

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — High-quality pasture may be a cost-effective alternative to grain as a supplemental feed for young calves.

According to the results of a two-year study conducted by animal scientists at Penn State, adding a period of high-quality grasses or grass-legume mixtures in calf-only pastures to a supplemental feeding program for calves may be the best way producers can offset the rising costs of grain. More pasture feeding also can reduce some of the excess fat on weaned calves that results from grain-only, creep-feeding progams.

Creep feeding usually involves an enclosed feeding pen for grain that is open only at the bottom so calves can eat, but adults cannot. Many purebred and commercial beef cow owners provide grain creep feed in pastures for 5- to 8-month-old calves that are still nursing. The supplemental feeding adds energy and protein to the diet and usually results in heavier weaning weights. Since the ratio of weight gained to feed consumed is quite high in young calves, creep feeding can be an efficient use of feed.

"However, as grain costs have increased over the past several years, we recommend that producers discontinue using only grain creep-feeding programs and either use them in combination with a pasture creep-feeding program or only use pasture creep feeding," said Dr. Lowell L. Wilson, professor of animal science at Penn State and one of the study's researchers.

Allowing calves to graze ahead of cows through a creep gate in a rotational pasture system is a good alternative to using grain. If rotational grazing is not an option, producers could set aside specific pastures to be grazed only by calves. In the Penn State study, all pastures contained perennial ryegrass and alfalfa mixtures and were rotated for grazing.

The researchers studied three different feeding programs: no creep feeding, pasture creep feeding, and grain creep feeding. They found that the pasture creed fed calves gained an average of 0.23 pounds per day faster than calves without any creep feeding. In 205 days, pasture-fed calves weighed 34 pounds more than those not creep fed. In the drought year of 1988, pasture creep-fed calves gained 0.17 pounds a day more rapidly and weighed 25 pounds more. Grain creep-fed calves gained 0.53 and 0.36 pounds a day more than non-creep-fed calves in 1987 and 1988, respectively.

In calculating the feeding costs for each pound of weight gain, creep-feed grain purchased in 1988 cost almost 2.5 times as much as the same grain cost in 1986-1987, resulting in an increased cost in creep feeding from $.32 a pound to $.80 a pound within the two-year period. The cost of grain used in the grain creep-feed system averaged $1.50 per pound of additional calf weight gain when compared to the pasture creep system.

"It is difficult to assign the same kinds of costs to the pasture creep-fed group because the actual costs of setting up and managing a pasture-creep system are difficult to calculate," explained Wilson. Under a pasture system that does not use high-quality grass-legume mixtures in a rotational system, the costs per pound of weight gain may be higher than the cost of using grain.

"The reason for this is that calves in a non-creep-feeding system would have access to a higher quality forage mixture than would calves in a more extensive, non-rotational system that uses a less desirable plant species," Wilson said.

The researcher found both pros and cons to using grain creep feeding. In addition to finding that overall costs of feeding grain may be lower than the costs of managing high-quality pastures, calves fed grain may sell for more per pound and may start regular feed more easily after weaning.

"The disadvantages of grain creep feeding are the rising costs of grain and the fact that calves fed grain are sometimes fatter and heavier than those fed on pastures and sell for less per pound, depending on the market," remarked Wilson. "Calves fed grain also tend to gain less rapidly and efficiently after weaning than others. Heifer calves can accumulate udder fat before weaning, which can reduce future milk production."

He and the Penn State researchers recommend a combination of grain and pasture creep-feeding programs for most producers. "The best combination seems to be to begin pasture creed feeding when calves are about 75 days old and then switch to a grain creep-feeding program about 30 days before weaning," recommended Wilson.

The creep-feeding study was conducted at Penn State's Haller Beef, Sheep, and Forage Farm. Peter J. Levan, research assistant, and Richard F. Todd, research aide, also were part of the research team.

John Deere has designed a new two-unit hitch for the 15-foot 750 no-till drill that allows the farmer to double the coverage in one pass. When transporting, one drill is positioned behind the other to obtain a 15-foot, 3-inch transport width.

Deere No-Till Grain Drill Has 30-Foot Capability

MOLINE, IL. — The 750 no-till drill, introduced by John Deere in 1988 in 10 and 15 foot models, will adapt to 30 foot seeding widths in 1990. The 750 model seeds small grains, forages, and legumes into any soil condition -- conventional, conservation, and no-till.

A new hitch, designed for two-unit hitching of 15 foot units, enables the farmer to double the coverage during one pass. When transporting, one drill is positioned behind the other to obtain a 15 foot 3 inch transport width.

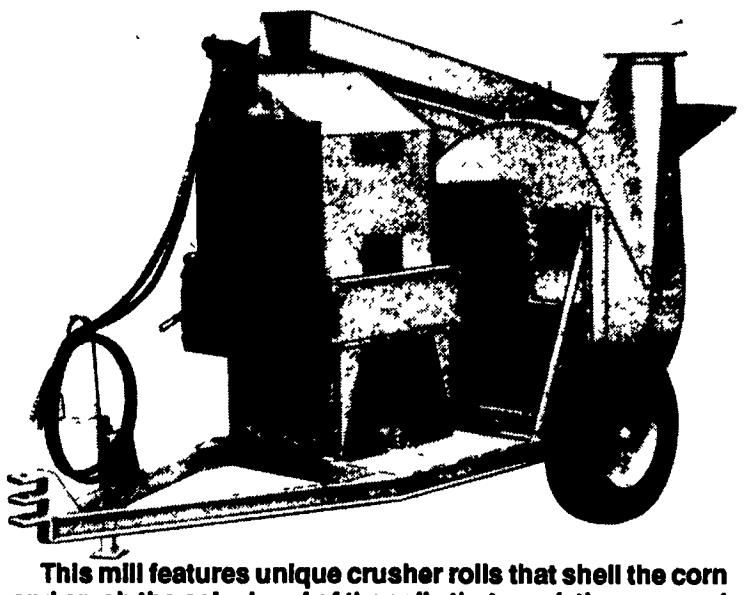
An additional feature introduced for the 1990 seeding season is the 750's ability to deep-band fertilize. The fertilizer opener - consisting of an 18-in. flat-disk blade, a 4½x16-inch depth-gauging wheel, and a fertilizer boot - is similar to the seed opener.

The flat-disk blade, like the seed opener, operates at a seven-degree angle to form a trench in which the fertilizer boot places the fertilizer. Fertilizer can be placed down to 3-1/2 inches in a "paired-row" fashion: one row of fertilizer equally spaced between two rows of seed. Fertilizer can be placed between two 7-1/2 inch rows or between two 10 inch rows. When fertilizer is placed in this manner, plant roots grow into the fertilizer "zone."

Fertilizer is metered through a non-corrosive, traction-feed system. The feeds, shaped in a tread design, rip into the fertilizer and meter the material through the discharge area. A two-speed drive gearbox provides 42 delivery rates.

A separate forward-position fertilizer box, available on the 15-ft. models, has a capacity of approximately 3,400 pounds. A foot board, located between the two boxes, has a non-skid surface and is accessed by a step and handrail.

The new two-unit hitch is available with machines equipped with or without the separate fertilizer placement option.



This mill features unique crusher rolls that shell the corn and crush the cob ahead of the rolls that crack the corn and reduce the cob further.

Automatic Mill Shells, Crushes, Cracks Corn

PENDER, NE. — High-moisture rolled corn/cob mix will produce as much milk as high-moisture shelled corn on up to 25 percent fewer acres while improving butterfat and herd health. Palatability problems are decreased when rolling the cob and kernel. The unique crusher rolls in the Automatic ATE-54B mill shell the corn and crush the cob ahead of the rolls that crack the corn and reduce the cob further. There are no screens to plug, change or slow down capacity. Automatic offers roll corrugation options and adjustability to reduce any feedstuff to the optimal particle size for the livestock you're feeding.

An integral blower discharge replaces the auger on this durable performer. You can fill the tallest upright silos with the big 54-inch blower which operates direct from roller mill drive shaft. Spring loaded pop-up door allows inspection of auger base between mill and blower. Tapered auger-out base keeps mill clean, preventing build-up of high moisture grain or silage.

The Automatic ATE-54B Earcorn Blower Mill is available in two sizes, to process approximately 600 or 900 BPH earcorn.

For further details contact the manufacturer, Automatic Equipment Mfg. Co., One Mill Road, Department NR, Pender, Nebraska 68047, phone 402-385-3051, or the distributor, Ryder Supply Company, 539 Falling Spring Road, Box 219, Chambersburg, 17201; phone 717/263-9111.

Westfalia Adds Vacuum Regulator To Line

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, IL. — A new vacuum regulator, designed to control up to 525 cubic feet of atmospheric air (ASME), is now available from Westfalia Systemat, Illinois-based manufacturer of high-tech dairy equipment and accessories.

The Vacurex 15,000 is the largest vacuum regulator in the line which also includes the 10,000, 5000 and 2400 models. It has an effective range of 9.5 to 16.9 inches of mercury. The Vacurex provides vacuum stability in milk line levels for large-scale dairy milking operations.

To combat problems like increased stress and incomplete milkout that can arise from excessively high or low vacuum levels, the Vacurex 15,000 utilizes a super-sensitive diaphragm that regulates fluctuations in milliseconds. This feature represents an advancement over other regulators which traditionally use a weight arrangement for milk line regulation.

For more information on Westfalia's Vacurex 15,000, or any other models in Westfalia's Vacurex line, contact Westfalia Systemat, 1862 Brummel Drive, Elk Grove Village, IL, 60007.

Latest Developments

1. PREPARATION - High volume water blasting at 1,000 lb. pressure re-surfaces barn siding into a smooth (like new) appearance!
   a Performed by professionals quickly at reasonable cost
   b By yourself with your own or rented equipment.
   c Or other more conventional methods.
2. APPLICATION - To insure better adherence to this super prepared surface, use the best fine bristle brush in four directions to evenly distribute the recommended mil thickness of seal coat coverage.
3. SPECIALIZATION - Every barn is different but generally it's best to use a high quality mildew resistant product, specially formulated to meet the requirements of this partially weathered wood that was and will be weather stressed.
4. WARNING - The modified oil latex is less effective as a wood preserver and actually increases nail & metal deterioration. Deal with home people. At their rates, I could double mine.

STRIKE IT RICH!

SELL IT WITH A LANCASTER FARMING CLASSIFIED

Gene Schmidt
Meeker County, MN
HERD STATS
• 88 cows on test
• 21,876 lbs milk (RHA)
• 802 lbs fat

"With SoyPLUS®... cows peaked higher, and they held their peaks longer."

"The main reason we started feeding SoyPLUS is because of its high bypass value. We feed 22-25 lbs. hay, corn silage, a grain mix and 5 lbs. cottonseed. We felt our cows weren't holding their peaks long enough. After we began feeding SoyPLUS, cows actually peaked higher than we ever expected, and they have held their peaks longer.

"We had one cow this past year that milked over 125 lbs. milk for a 3-4 month period, and a two-year-old that is currently milking 102 lbs. per day.

"I like SoyPLUS because it smells better than solvent meal. I taste just about everything the cows eat and I think SoyPLUS tastes kind of like roasted peanuts.

"We really challenge our cows. SoyPLUS is top-dressed and also fed in the grain mix four times per day .. feed levels for each cow are increased every couple of days as long as cows eat everything. Our records show that for every $2 extra we spent on feed this past year, we got $3 back in extra milk."

NOTE: Gene's herd recently received 5 of 7 production awards in Meeker County. Top herd/fat (802#), top cow/fat (1,170#), top cow/milk (28,758#), top cow/protein (870#) and top cow/dollar value (28,044# milk, 1,170# fat)
